SIZE AND SPEED SOUGHT TO DEVELOP RADIO

Size and speed are the factors being developed in the construction of new stations throughout the world.

As to size, it has been found that various interferences—static and otherwise—have a pronounced effect on the stations. For example, the great station atop the northward building in New York city, established by the city, has practically been abandoned, because it was not strong enough to overcome the interference produced by the large steel structures surrounding it.

Now another broadcasting station, larger than any ever constructed, will soon try to send its messages and concerts from the roof of one of New York's skyscrapers. Yet, its builders may find that even this may not succeed in overcoming the interference of the tall city structures.

From San Francisco comes word that the most powerful radio station in the world is being planned for Oakland, across the bay. It is to be built by the General Electric company and is planned to have power enough to cross the Pacific and the equator with its radio flashes.

Speed already is being attained through the use of various mechanical instruments in connection with transmission and reception of messages.

More than a hundred words a minute can be sent, through an instrument in use at Washington, and a speed of 60 words a minute have been attained for reception.

This speed is slow compared with what experimenters hope to attain.

THROW OFF GRIP SYMPTOMS NOW

Do Not Let the Lingering After Effects Spoil the Summer

or You

If you had the grip last winter and have not fully regained your health and strength, take advantage of the spring season and aid nature with a proper tonic to rid your system of the poisons left by the disease. Unless you do, the debility will persist and make you miserable all summer.

People who are still suffering from the effects of the grip of influenza will be interested in the experience of Mrs. William Smyth, of No. 134 Oxford St., Portland, Me.

"I had an attack of influenza," said Mrs. Smyth recently, "and it left me weak and run down. I tried many medicines but nothing seemed to give more than temporary help. I was tired all the time, even after a night's sleep. My heart was affected so that the slightest effort caused it to beat rapidly and this worried me a great deal, for I was almost convinced that I had some kind of heart trouble. My appetite was poor and my stomach was upset. I didn't have any energy or ambition and by nerves were unsteady."

"My father had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit and he was a firm believer in the remedy, so I decided to try them. One week after I began taking the pills I was convinced that they were helping me so I kept on with the treatment. The violent, irregular beating of my heart no longer bothered me for now it seems to be quite normal again. I eat and sleep well and have gained strength and ambition. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those who suffer from general debility."

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's today or write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing 60 cents and a box will be sent you postpaid. A little booklet, "Building Up to Blood," which explains the treatment, will be sent free on request.—Adv.

Ironize More Foods

One of the body's daily needs is food-iron for the blood.

Raisins furnish iron—the natural, organic iron which is most easily assimilated by the system.

Add raisins, therefore, to cakes, cookies, breakfast foods, bread, etc., and you add this benefit as well as luscious flavor.

More Shoe Shops to Close

has have opened their doors today for any employees who wish to work. The largest factories of the George E. Keith Co. and W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. were opened this morning, but advisers from the plants showed that few employees reported in the departments where unions have struck.

Officers and committees of the newly formed Brockton District Shoe Workers' organization extended their efforts to towns of the old Colony district today in an effort to have shoe workers in other towns go out in sympathy with the Brockton strikers and to accede from the Boot & Shoe Workers' union.

President Joseph E. Lacouture and Secretary Dennis E. McCarthy of the organization, announced that Whitman, with its big Commonwealth Shoe and Leather Co., and Regal Shoe Co. factories will be visited some time today. Representatives of the new union organization visited Middleboro yesterday afternoon in an attempt to have workers go out there.

They met with little success, according to Middleboro union officials and manufacturers. They were refused admittance to two factories, it was learned.

What other towns will be subject to the influence of the new union was not made known by officers of the organization today, but it is certain they claim that an attempt will be made to get all workers in the district out in sympathy with the Brockton strikers.

The 21 strikers marched through the Whitman streets for an hour terminating their parade at the Regal Shoe Co.'s factory at East Whitman. No

lasters or any other employees of the Regal Co. have left their jobs. It is claimed at the factory.

Bridgewater shoe workers held a big mass meeting this morning, and employees of the packing, stitching and lasting rooms of the L. Q. White Shoe Co. joined with those who went out yesterday afternoon. The number going out was estimated at 100. President Joseph Lacouture of the Brockton district shoe workers' addressed the Bridgewater workers.

Employees of the Bridgewater Workers' Co-operative Co., and the Banker Field Co., of Bridgewater, joined the L. Q. White Co. strikers other strikers claim. Officials of both firms deny their employees are on strike. No employees have struck at Crocker & Morse, Inc., another Bridgewater factory.

More Join In Strike
Seven out of 14 lasters at the Regal Shoe Co. factory at Whitman, walked out shortly before noon, in sympathy with the Brockton strikers. At the Metropolitan Shoe Co. of Whitman, nine lasters, the entire lasting room group, left their jobs soon after the Regal employees quit.

Following a meeting of the mixed union strikers this morning a committee of three strikers made the following statement:

"There were over 500 present at the meeting Monday night, when the strike vote was taken. The strikers wish to refute the statement of union officials that 400 left the meeting before the strike vote was taken. Over 500 were present at our meeting this morning."

Another meeting of the union is called for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The executive board of the vanguard union, employees of the stitching room, announce a mass meeting for tonight at 7:30.

Schrader, state supervisor of physical education, that he will be unable to be a guest of the Lowell school department at the high school field day on Friday of this week, but hopes that Miss French of his department will come to the city to represent the state. Mr. Schrader was an interested spectator at last year's field day and had only commendable words for the program presented.

The high school had, now polishing up for field day, has its new instruments to work with and it is expected the organization will be an important feature of the event.

AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION MEETS

BOSTON, May 22.—The American Unitarian association held its 38th annual meeting today in connection with the events of Unitarian anniversary week, and delegates listened to a series of short addresses on the activities of various departments of the organization in the last year.

"No year in the history of the association has been so busy with such happy and effective co-operation between ministers and churches," Rev. Minot Shoups, D.D., secretary of the church extension department said in his report.

"More than a score of churches have been helped to renewed life and increased capacities by the contributions made to the Unitarian campaign, Inc., and allotted to the extension department."

Reporting that barely one-third of one per cent, of the $2,400,000 subscribed by 25,000 Unitarians three years ago, is considered uncollectible, Officer M. Fisher, assistant treasurer of the Unitarian campaign, Inc., declared that for the immediate future, Unitarians are prepared to give $1,000,000 a year for extension of the work of the 15 denominational agencies which are sharing in the subscriptions obtained in the 1920 canvass.

No "closed" for want of a minister sign need hang on any Unitarian church door, according to the report made by Rev. Fred R. Lewis of North Easton, for the committee for recruiting the ministry. Not only are there clergymen to fill every vacant pastorate, he said, but the students now in college and theological schools, promise a sufficient supply for the near future.

Co-operation with all agencies, both within and without the denomination aiming at the moral and spiritual development of the young, has characterized the policy of the department of religious education, according to the report by Dr. William L. Lawrence, its secretary.

TO ABOLISH CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 22.—Speakers who addressed representatives of civil organizations meeting under the auspices of the League of Women Voters here last night, said Alabama would have a worse reputation than Florida, if the concealed truth about the methods of the convict lease system were known. They pleaded for the abolition of the convict lease system.

W. C. Davis of Jasper, former member of the legislature; John C. Arnold, also former legislator; Judge William E. Fort of the Jefferson county circuit court, and Irwin Eagle of the Birmingham bar, were the speakers.

Mr. Davis cited the explosion of the Banner mine some years ago, when scores of convicts, there against their will, were killed.

"We are training Alabama girls in a state college at Montevallo within sight of another institution where free labor refuses to work," he said. "Count the unknown graves in the woods back of the college, where the mine victims are buried if you want to know the death toll of our convicts. Last year there were nearly twice as many accidental deaths of convicts in the mines as were claimed in the whole state convict system by pneumonia and tuberculosis combined."

DISCUSS APPLICATION FOR BRANCH BANK

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The federal reserve board's advisory council apparently had reached no conclusion today, at its regular quarterly meeting as to whether a proper precedent would be established in permitting the placing of a federal reserve bank agency in Cuba, and was continuing discussion of the matter.

"The qualifications of the Boston and Atlanta reserve banks to establish agencies in Havana, has raised the question which occupied the attention of the council at the first day of its meeting, yesterday, even to the exclusion of subjects of credit and general economic conditions."

TO BURN POPPIES MADE IN GERMANY

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 22.—"Poppies made in Germany are not fit to honor our boys who perished on Flanders fields," said the women of the American Legion Auxiliary today. They voted last night to burn 10,000 cloth poppies in a public bonfire on the Municipal Island Friday night. The poppies had been purchased to sell on "Poppy Day" which falls on next Saturday. Later it was discovered they were German-made.

JUDGE PARKER UMPIRE OF COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Resumption of proceedings before the mixed claims commission on the war claims of the United States government and American citizens against Germany today awaited the appointment of an American commissioner to succeed Judge Edwin B. Parker, of Texas, who has been appointed umpire of the commission.

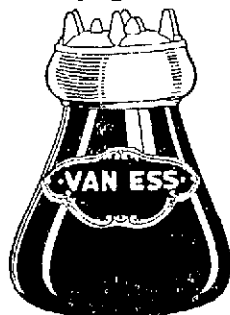

Judge Parker's appointment as umpire was made yesterday immediately after former Justice Day of the supreme court had sent in his resignation from that office to President Harding, stating that he did so because he believed a younger and stronger man should assume the duties. There had been no intimation today as to the president's probable choice for American commissioner to succeed Judge Parker, whose appointment as umpire, it was announced at the state department, the German government had been glad to approve.

BUILDINGS AT DEVENS STAY

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Major-General Edward L. Logan of Boston, commander of the Massachusetts National Guard and president of the National Guard association of the United States yesterday obtained from the war department an agreement that the wooden buildings at Camp Devens shall be retained until after this summer, at least.

General Logan previously had protested a plan to tear down those buildings and replace them with canvas a plan which General Logan declared would be uneconomical in view of the thousands of New Englanders who will be at the summer training camps at Devens.

BOY IS CHARGED WITH FORGERY

The case of Joseph Eugene Antaya, 18, a neat appearing and intelligent looking youngster, charged with forgery, was heard in the clerk's office at district court building this morning. His case was continued until May 26. Antaya was arrested while playing pool in a room on Suffolk street last night by Officers Alfred J. Cooney and Francis E. Moore.

Officer Cooney in relating the story, stated that the youngster had secured a blank Lowell Trust company check, and had forged the name of George Marchand, a merchant of Moody st., to the paper, for an amount of $14.27. According to the testimony of the youth, he then went to the general clothing store of Rosalie Cantor at 634 Merrimack street and purchased a pair of pants, neck ties and other miscellaneous clothing to the amount of $8, giving the check as payment, and accepting the balance. The check was endorsed by Louis Cantor. It was returned by the bank, and the police were notified. Bond for appearance in the juvenile court Friday was placed at $500.

According to Officer Cooney, the lad was convicted for the larceny of three bicycles recently and was placed on probation. At the time of his arrest by Officers Cooney and Moore, Antaya had on his person a purse containing keys and two rings, the value of which have not been ascertained. The lad admitted to the officers, stated Officer Cooney, that he had "lifted" the purse which had contained money, in a lodging house, at which he was stopping. The need of money was the excuse offered by the boy for the forgery, according to the officers who took part in the arrest.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Fundamentalists and Liberals

to Bring Fight to Floor of Convention

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 22.—Fundamentalists and Liberals, whose differences regarding interpretation of the Bible, have resulted in much discussion and corridor discussion at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, are expected to bring their fight to the convention floor today. The committee on bills and resolutions is to report on the case of Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, liberalist leader.

William Jennings Bryan, fundamentalist leader, who insists on a literal interpretation of the Bible is expected to take the floor and demand that the convention denounce Fosdick and his views.

Another clash is expected when the committee on education makes its report. Mr. Bryan is expected to demand that the teachings of Darwinism in the denomination's schools be prohibited, while educational leaders are expected to make a fight against any attempt to interfere with the study of science.

NASHUA, N. H., May 22.—John Litzell, of Lisbon, Me., who sustained a fractured skull in an automobile accident at Merrimack, N. H., last night, was reported still in a critical condition at the Nashua Memorial hospital this morning. DON'T GET FRESH WITH

RICARDO NELSON

Ricardo Nelson, 24-year-old Swedish youth, hailed as the world's strongest man, showed Lowell people last night how easy and simple it is to tear in half a 1920-page telephone directory, break a 25-strand hemp rope tested to withstand 4400 pounds, twist a steel horse shoe into a corkscrew and wind a steel bar into a perfect spiral. Nelson did these and other stunts on the stage of Colonial hall before an audience that was quick to realize the beautifully co-ordinated strength of the man from across the sea.

Much of Nelson's strength is housed within his powerful mouth and he uses his teeth in much the same manner as the ordinary man would wield a pair of pincers. If one is looking for excitement don't "mingle" with Ricardo, he's strong enough to break even your promises, and then some.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Make THE Backyard Pay

BY W. R. BEATTIE

Extension Horticulturist, United States Department of Agriculture

Wild blackberries and dewberries grow over a wide range of territory. Among them are found some excellent native varieties, but the cultivated sorts that have been developed are far superior.

Both blackberries and dewberries are adapted for growing in home gardens as they follow raspberries and strawberries and provide a continuous supply of fresh fruit for the table.

About 16 hills of each or a combined row 50 feet in length will yield about enough berries for the ordinary family.

Blackberries are started by planting the suckers or young plants that come up from the extended roots of the old plants, or pieces of roots from the old plants may simply be buried at a depth of two or three inches where the hills are wanted. The planting of suckers is best for the home garden.

The canes formed one year bear the fruit the following season and then should be removed. The strong growing canes should be pinched back during the summer so that they form branches and do not become too high.

Blackberries that grow wild in patches support one another, but in the garden, where the hills are spaced about three or four feet apart, the young and tender canes are liable to be broken off at the base by the wind unless they are tied to supports.

A good way to support the blackberry plants is to drive a long stake about four feet high in the row beside each hill, then stretch about three strands of galvanized wire on the stakes and tie the canes to the wires.

Dewberries are similar to blackberries in most respects, except that the canes creep along the ground and form new plants by rooting at their tips. Set the plants in the early spring three feet apart in the row and allow the canes to lie on the ground the first season. Early the following spring drive a row of stakes and stretch wires upon them, forming a trellis to which the canes may be tied.

Dewberries are pruned very much the same as other berries by cutting out the old canes after fruiting and clipping back the new growth. If the canes grow longer than five or six feet, if more than five or six canes are formed in each hill thin out the weaker ones. Dewberries give better results in the south than blackberries.

In cold regions, dewberry canes winter-kill badly unless they are protected. One method of protecting the plants is to loosen the wires from the stakes and lay the wires and canes upon the ground, then cover them with earth or with straw or both. In the early spring the covering is carefully removed and the wires fastened back in place without taking the canes off them.

Logan blackberries are adapted to growing on the Pacific coast but do not thrive in the south or east. The loganberry is of the trailing type and resembles the dewberry in its habits of growth. It is a very strong grower, sometimes producing canes 20 feet long. The canes should be grown on the ground the first season, then tied up like dewberries.

PULLS MAN FROM RIVER

Autoist Saves Man From Drowning, But Kills Him Half Hour Later

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 22.—Saved from drowning in a creek by a passing motorist, and half an hour later struck and severely injured by the same motorist on Lake road, south of Clarkson Corners, Frank Akey, 65, of Brockport, died at the County hospital yesterday.

Responding to calls for help, Herbert Chapman, fruit grower of Clarkson, stopped his car at a creek near Brockport and found Akey struggling in the water.

Wading in, Chapman succeeded in pulling the man to shore. Akey is said to have been drinking.

Chapman went into Brockport with his wife to make a call. On the way back he took the same highway, the Lake road.

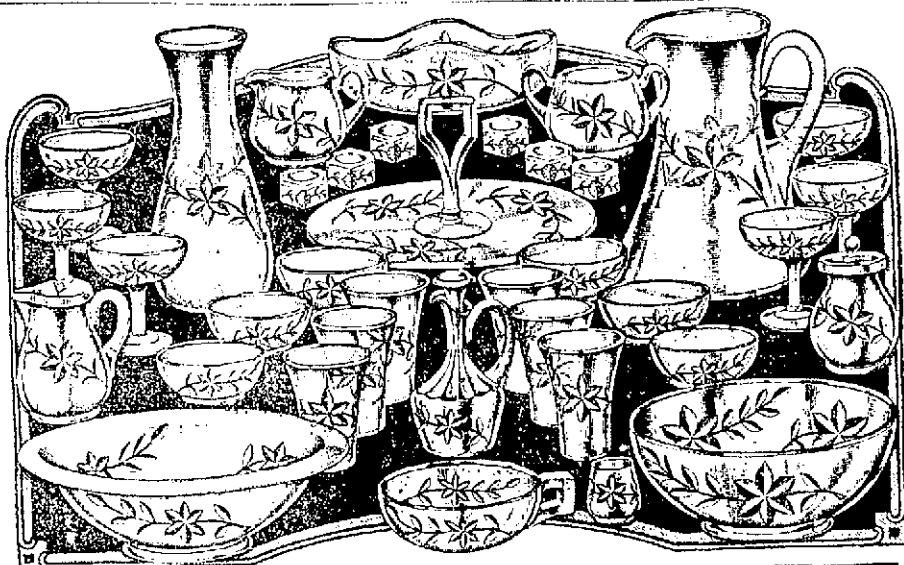

About three-quarters of a mile beyond the scene of his rescue, Chapman says, Akey suddenly staggered from the side of the road in front of the car. He was knocked down and received a fractured skull.

BERNE, Switzerland, May 22.—Termining Soviet Russia's note on the Vorovsky assassination "audacious and arrogant," the Swiss reply says that it would have remained unanswered but for the possibility that silence on Switzerland's part might be misconstrued. The reply declares Switzerland finds "nothing for which to reproach herself."

Acceptance of Act Would Help Water Department

back to the council unapproved by Mayor John J. Donovan, will feature the meeting of the council tonight. Councilman Frederick A. Sadler, sponsor of the ordinance, will attempt to have the order passed over the mayoral veto and will present facts and figures to substantiate his claim that certain sections of the city are without adequate police protection during the night time due to open routes and "doubling" and because of a shortage of regular men. It was impossible today to get much of a line on how the council will vote on the question, each apparently being satisfied to wait until final arguments are heard before making a decision. The mayor has taken no action on the order for paying a portion of Lawrence street and for sanitary improvements at the Moody and Oaklands schools and therefore it is not expected those will be before the council this evening.

Mayor's Engagements
Mayor John J. Donovan is attempting to solve the perplexing problem of filling a multitude of vacancies on Memorial day, many of which came in the afternoon after the parade. Already the mayor has received invitations to attend the following events in addition to reviewing the parade: Water service at East Merrimack street bridge, 8:30 a. m.; Memorial mass South common, 10 a. m.; Post 12, G.A.R., Memorial hall, 5 p. m.; G.A.R. banquet, immediately after parade, 203 Merrimack street; Spanish War Veterans, dinner, 5:30 p. m. and

Disabled War veterans, Liberty hall, 6 p. m.

Asks for Conference

The school committee has asked for a conference with the special committee of the city council on Thursday evening of this week to discuss condition at the Edison school, and to formulate some definite plans for temporary repairs that at least will make the building safe for occupancy. The meeting will be held at city hall at 7:30 p. m. Members of the special committee are Councilors Hanessy, Conyngham, Sadler, Chadwick and Christian.

City Auditor Martin

City Auditor Daniel E. Martin will go to Boston on Thursday to attend the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Municipal Auditors and Comptrollers' association to be held at the Boston City club at 1 p. m. Election of officers for the current year will feature the business session. Present officers include Theodore N. Waddell, state director of accounts, president; Daniel W. Kennedy, city auditor of Holyoke, vice president, and Henry O. Fairbanks, city auditor of Quincy, secretary-treasurer.

Fire Loss Payments

The city today received insurance payments covering the fire loss at the Mann school, amounting in total to $11,950.79, of which $10,454 is on the building and $1,526.79 on the furnishings. The actual adjustment of the high school annex fire is now completed and money covering this loss is expected within a few days.

NO JURISDICTION IN LIBEL ACTION

NEW YORK, May 22.—General Sessions Judge Crane, sitting as a committing magistrate in the libel action brought by Police Commissioner Egan against Assemblyman Louis A. Condit and Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, today sustained Assemblyman Cuvillier's objection that the court had no jurisdiction and that Cuvillier's alleged libelous acts were committed in Albany and not New York county.

BIG SHIPMENT OF FRENCH POPPIES

Adjutant William Kirk of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has received a shipment of 35,000 poppies, made by French war orphans which will be used in the annual Poppies day drive of the organization to be held Saturday. The proceeds from the sale of the flowers will be used to help needy families of veterans who died in or out of the service. "There are many needy families in Lowell who need a lift," states the adjutant, and if the people of Lowell contribute liberally the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be able to tide them over until help is received from the government.

Post Commander David F. Caddell will preside at the regular meeting of the post to be held tonight in Memorial hall of the Memorial Auditorium. Plans will be perfected for the participation of the post in the water service, in memory of veterans who gave up their lives fighting for America on the high seas, to be held Memorial day morning, and the poppy sale.

CARSON TRIES TO MAKE GETAWAY

TEGUICALUA, Honduras, May 22.—(By the Associated Press) Jesse C. Carson, under detention here with Clara Phillips, the California "hammer murder" and her sister, Mrs. Etta May Jackson, attempted to escape while being taken to police headquarters with the two women today for questioning by the minister of justice. Carson tried to jump from the automobile carrying the party but the guards acted quickly and held him in his place.

ANIMAL GROUP WITH SPARKS' CIRCUS

SPARKS CIRCUS COMING TO LOWELL MAY 31

When the Sparks circus exhibits in Lowell Thursday, May 31, a feature that should especially appeal to youngsters from far and near will be found in operation. Manager Charles Sparks announces a most welcome reduction in the price of children's tickets, and at both performances here all youngsters under 12 will be admitted for 30 cents, including war tax, instead of the 50 cent price which has prevailed in late years.

BOSTON BIDS FAREWELL TO "LIGHTNIN" TROUPE

BOSTON, May 22.—The departure of the "Lightnin'" company from Boston

PERCY POLLOCK As Bill Jones in "Lightnin'"

yesterday, after their historic seven months' run at the Hollis street theatre, was made the occasion of a noisy farewell celebration by players appearing at other club theatres.

When Percy Pollock, Jessie Pringle, Paul Stanton and other favorites of the "Lightnin'" organization appeared at the South station shortly before noon to entrain for Brockton, they were greeted with shouts and discordant notes of a variety of musical instruments ranging from harmoniums to tin horns. Amid the diminutive star of "Minute An' A Day," at the Colonial theatre, was the leader and a group of girls from the "Lady Butterfly" company at the Shubert theatre, were prominent in the fun. Crane Wilbur and members of "The Monster" company were also on hand.

Farewell parties have been the custom for the "Lightnin'" company ever since Mayor Hylan and a distinguished group of officials and player folk escorted Frank Bacon and his colleagues to the Pennsylvania station after their three years' run at the Gaiety theatre, New York. This was on the occasion of their departure for Chicago two years ago this summer. Plans for a similar celebration when they left Chicago were abandoned because of Mr. Bacon's death. Had the beloved creator of Bill Jones remained in the bar-children's entertainment and that circus day is one of the most important events in a child's life, we gave the little ones first consideration when business conditions warranted a price reduction. I have always felt that the price of 50 cents charged for children's tickets by all the important circuses during the past few years has been a hardship to many a poor kiddie. While we are not philanthropists we do not expect to increase our revenue by the change. But we do anticipate greater numbers of children, and crowds of children to my mind are as important to the permanent success of a circus as the performance itself.

Greatly endeared and even more lavishly equipped than in former years, the Sparks circus is provided here by most complimentary newspaper reviews from cities in which it has recently exhibited. Seats can be secured circus day at Kershaw's Music store, same price as at show grounds. This season the Sparks circus will exhibit at the Gorham street circus lot.

ness his send-off in the western metropolis would probably have eclipsed the one that Broadway gave him.

"Lightnin'" will begin a limited tour of the principal New England cities with a three days' engagement in Brockton beginning last night. Three days in New Bedford will follow and next Monday the company will go to Lowell for performances Monday and Tuesday night at the opera house. The original cast is being held intact for the New England tour, with Percy Pollock, who succeeded Mr. Bacon, continuing in the role of "Lightnin'" Bill Jones.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

H. P. KELTIN'S THEATRE

A comedy playlet in which Jack Norton wins fresh laurels and the appearance of Harry Johnson, brother of Al, of musical comedy fame, features the bill at H. P. Keltin's theatre this week. Other acts on the program tend to give balance to the show and keep it on the up-grade.

The Norton comedy is titled "Recuperation," and if laughing keeps one's health in order then it will substitute star well for the family physician. Lucille Halsey as "June" really does more for Norton's run down system than the training camp doctor, however, played by Frank Duane. In the end the dinkie of wedding chimes may be imagined without much effort. Norton's comedy lines are particularly good and the act rolls along in first rate style.

Speaking of style, Harry Johnson is a stylist of the first rank. He works in black-face, even as his more illustrious brother and admits that while Al ticks the treasury for $5000 per week he, himself, draws down only $1250 less. He has a little assistance in his act in a measure quite surprising. The star knows how to put over a song and he was repeatedly encored last night. His singing of "Carolina Mammy" was a work of art.

If you like a jolly, rolund person, weighing in the neighborhood of 320, see George Watts, and also give a look at Belle Hawley, who plays with him. Not that Miss Hawley is at all similar in size to George, but she does not slow up the act by any means. Watts has a number of snappy song numbers, practically all of the conversational brand but new and decidedly of vaudeville type.

Mabel Burke and Norma Lehyland present a song series of 1923 song hits and in addition to most acceptable voices the young women employ motion picture features to excellent advantage.

Whistling, pantomime, comedy prattle and music blend well in the act of Kurt and Edith Kuehn, while Carr and Brey in "Dancemania" close the show in whirlwind fashion. The opener presents the Mithen brothers, hand balancers and jugglers.

RIALTO THEATRE

A vivid story of the great Canadian northwest, in which the trials of the famous organization, the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police are graphically retold, may be seen in the production, "I Am the Law," which opens a two day engagement at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon. The story is the feature of a mighty attractive program, in which is also featured a comedy farce entitled "Red Hot Romance," a thrilling chapter of the serial "Around the World in 18 Days," a snappy comedy and the Pathé News. The entire bill furnishes plenty of entertainment and is arranged with the idea of an even balance.

The story in this great picture, "I Am the Law," is laid in the snowy fastnesses of the great northwest, in which two brothers, the Fitzgeralds, members of the famous police organization, are depicted in a plot of sacrifice and conviction, one of the brothers assumes the crime of a Kilt committed by his brother while the other one, after being cleared of his guilty crime, turns false to the heroic brother and goes out to arrest him for the plot which he himself has committed. His brother holds his mother's feelings for

The New Sprayed Rubber—the first rubber produced by scientific process from the rubber latex. Uniform in quality. Acid-free, and uncontaminated with smoke residues or foreign matter.

The New Web Cord—for the first time a rubber-webbed cord structure without tie-threads. Impregnated through and through with pure rubber by direct use of the latex itself. Not to be confused with the practice of using rubber solutions.

The New Flat Band Method of Building Tires—a new method ensuring the positive length, angle, tension and strength of each cord. A uniform tire equalized throughout in resiliency and resistance to wear.

WITH the announcement of these three "U. S." discoveries, now being published in detail in the newspapers and magazines—car owners are given the physical explanation for Royal Cord leadership and dominance.

The question of tire value is taken out of the realm of opinion and put on the solid ground of demonstrable fact.

The motorist who has been planning to use Royal Cords in 1923 has now before him a still fuller confirmation for his belief in Royal Cord Tires.

To dealers the significance is this: car-owners are anxious for U. S. Royal Cords, and even now are seeking the dealer who has an adequate Royal Cord stock. Tire users want Royal Cords straight-away—and will go where they can get them.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Starting with the matinee this afternoon, Nance O'Neil, America's most famous tragedienne, is appearing in that big Broadway attraction, "The Passion Flower," at the Lowell Opera House. Miss O'Neil is supported by Alfred Hickman, probably as well known on the American stage as Miss O'Neil herself and the Al Luttinger Stock Players who have delighted the theatregoers of this city all season.

Mr. Luttinger felt that as this was a great week of the Al Luttinger Stock Players he would like to do something to show the patrons of the theatre his appreciation of the way that they have supported his company here this season and in bringing Miss O'Neil to Lowell he feels that he has done just a little something to show them that he is trying his best to please them.

For the first time Miss O'Neil will appear with a stock company and what is more for the first time she will appear in this production at less than $250 prices. Through an arrangement with Mr. Luttinger the prices for this show will be the same as those charged in this theatre all season.

It is only necessary to say that in her role Miss O'Neil portrays the soul-stricken Spanish mother so eloquently that it seems as if you were not watching a play but that it was real. The story tells of a great love so great that it knew no bounds. Seats for this play are now on sale. Societies and clubs wishing to come to the theatre in a body can do so by making arrangements at the box office.

STRAND THEATRE

For the first three days of the week the Strand theatre is featuring the famous Goldwyn super-production, "The Christian," which achieved a world-wide popularity through its author, Sir Hall Caine. This play ranks among the most notable screen achievements, and filmed under the able direction of Maurice Tourneur, it is one of the most elaborate screen productions ever shown in this country.

"The Christian" unfolds the story of a man who had to choose between his devotion to religion and an overpowering passion for London's famous star-beauty. This young girl was born and brought up in a little country town in England and when she grows into womanhood she longs for the city life and finally goes to London, where she becomes an actress, ranking later as London's most beautiful stage woman.

Her school day friend, whose friendship for her has grown into love, enters the ministry and later goes to London, where he struggles between devotion to his religion and his love for the young and beautiful actress.

The greater part of the picture was filmed in London and among the scenes presented on the screen are most scenes taken at Trafalgar square. The picture is one that stir the blood and imagination and is well worth seeing for while it provides great amusement it also affords a great moral lesson. The cast is made up of screen stars such as Richard Dix, Mae Busch and others.

The other picture, "The Love Letter," is one of Gladys Walton's best screen dramas and provides considerable amusement. It deals with a young woman who is employed in an over-all factory. Her great pleasure is to place watch notes in the pockets of the overalls she turns out. Some of the notes are answered and among the letters received is one from a young blacksmith, a handsome young man. After being her job at the factory the girl would her way to the neighboring village, where she meets the young blacksmith. What follows may be better enjoyed on the screen. The play is interesting throughout and is sure to please every one.

In addition to these two clever productions there is also an interesting series of current events as well as "Fun from the Press," an excellent comedy and very enjoyable musical numbers.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Harold Lloyd, one of the greatest comedians of the movie world, in "Safety Last!" one of the greatest laugh-producing pictures ever shown in Lowell, provides the main feature at the Merrimack Square theatre. Lloyd has steadily grown in popularity here with each picture shown and this last one provides such comedy and realistic thrills that the result is wonderful.

The play opens in Rio Bend, a one-horse town, where Lloyd lives and loves a beautiful young girl. He decides to go to New York and make his fortune. Arriving in New York he gets a job as clerk in a dry goods store, and eludes with a structural steel worker.

Lloyd sends several supposedly expensive gifts back to his girl so she and her father think it is time to go to the big city and surprise Harold, whom she thinks is general manager of the store. Lloyd in the meantime has had plenty of real experience. He and his chum have a startling experience with one of New York's police officers who says that he'll get them. Another rather interesting scene is a bargain sale at his counter, which shows about one woman in a mad rush for bargains. Finally the girl arrives and Lloyd is rather put out to show her what a big job he has. By good management he gets away with his acting as general manager and sends the girl back to her hotel proud of her Harold. With his pockets empty and a belated look on his hands, Harold seems to be run up against a stone wall until he overhears the proprietor of the store offer $1000 to any one who could give a crowd of ragged boys around the store a good meal. Lloyd's plan is to get a crowd of ragged boys and arrange a big meal for them. He goes to the store and gets a crowd of ragged boys and arranges a big meal for them. He goes to the store and gets a crowd of ragged boys and arranges a big meal for them.

ing. With everything all set to start, the irate policeman sees in Harold's roommate the one who tricked him and starts after him, so Harold is compelled to start up the building, with the partner promising to meet him one floor above and swap clothes. As a result, Harold is compelled to climb the whole building and in climbing it he has many narrow escapes that caused many in the audience to scream and then to laugh till they cried when they realized it was "on the screen." By the time Lloyd reaches the top of the building the audience is tired out from thrills and from laughing. At the top he is met by the girl and everything is satisfactorily explained. It is, without doubt, the best picture that Lloyd has shown in and the photography is marvelous.

"The Old-Fashioned Planter" is another attraction at the theatre. An installment of the "Tea-Leaf-Pushers" an International News Weekly and Fun from the Press complete the program.

PLAN INJUNCTION AGAINST SAUNDERS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 22.—Nashville, Tenn., investors in the stock of the Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., threaten to file injunction proceedings here today to restrain Clarence Saunders, president of the corporation from further expenditures of Piggly Wiggly money for alleged "personal advertising."

Information that Piggly Wiggly stockholders at Nashville propose to seek the injunction was made public by Lynn H. Dinkins, a New Orleans lawyer.

That he had spent $154,000 of the corporation's money for personal advertising, was emphatically denied by Mr. Saunders. Much of the advertising expense of the company, he said, was charged to his personal account.

Verdict for Plaintiff in Action of Contract Case—
Jury Waived Session

The case of Charles Johnson vs. George Greenberg, an action of contract, which went to trial at the jury civil session of the superior court yesterday, was brought to a close this forenoon and shortly before noon the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $140.30. In this case the plaintiff was endeavoring to recover the sum of $300, which he claims was deposited with the defendant on the purchase of a building. The defendant alleged that of the amount mentioned by the plaintiff, the sum of $325.58 was due him for services and that the remainder was being held by him as trustee for the plaintiff by order of a trustee process issued by the district court of Lowell.

The next case to go to trial was that of William F. Conroy, administrator for the estate of Mary Conroy, vs. Beatrice J. Maxwell, an action of tort in the sum of $10,000. The plaintiff alleges that on Sept. 12, 1921, while Mary Conroy was a tenant in the property numbered 124 Bartlett street and owned by the defendant, she fell through the piazza railing and sustained injuries which caused her death. He also alleges that there was a defect in the railing, due to the negligence of the defendant. The defendant denies each and every allegation contained in the plaintiff's declaration and further contends that the accident was due to the negligence of deceased, Kerwin, Reilly and Gilbelle for the plaintiff and Donahue and Donahue and George P. Toye for the defendant.

Jury Waived Session

At the jury waived session of the superior court the case of Thomas Ristom of Lawrence vs. the city of Lowell, which was started late yesterday afternoon, was resumed this morning. In this case the plaintiff has brought suit against the city to recover the sum of $325 for damages to his automobile, due to the defective condition of First street. He claims that on Sept. 14, 1912, while transporting passengers from Lawrence to this city, the rear wheel of his automobile passed over an excavation in First street at a point near the car barn and as a result the rear axle of his car was broken. He is being represented by Coulson and Donovan of Lawrence, while the city case is being handled by City Solicitor P. J. Reynolds.

Increase in the Cost of Living

BOSTON, May 22. An increase of 5.8 of one per cent, in the cost of living index for April as compared with March, was reported by the state commission on necessities today. This was accounted for by the increased cost of shelter, fuel and light, and sundries. Rents of dwellings of moderate value were higher and speculation in existing houses was evident, due to the high cost of new construction. Rents of heated apartments and of houses in choice localities showed a tendency to decline.

Lowell Normal School Glee Club and Orchestra Concert at Auditorium

City Council Committee Discusses Alterations to Market Street Building

In connection with the annual concert of the Glee club and orchestra of the Lowell Normal school, which is to be given at the Memorial Auditorium Friday evening, it is interesting to note that American composers are represented on the program by two numbers, "Life Size a Rose" by Charles Wakefield Cadman and "Dolly" by George Chadwick. This last should be of especial interest to Lowell people, as Mr. Chadwick who is at present president of the New England Conservatory of Music, and is one of the foremost American composers, was born in Lowell in 1851.

This will give our citizens a chance to get a bit of a foretaste of Cadman's music and make them more eager to see and hear this eminent composer next autumn when he is to appear as one of the evening attractions of the Moses Greeley Parker lectures. The Fantasy on a Russian Folk-Song by Rachmaninoff, which forms the major part of that portion of the Glee club program devoted to Russian music was awarded first prize in the international competition offered by the Schumann club of New York, Percy Reuter Stephens, conductor, in 1920.

Admission to this concert is to be free and no tickets will be issued. It will begin promptly at 8:15 p. m.

Many Children Are Confirmed

time suits. A large congregation of parents, relatives and friends were present at the exercises.

Before administering the sacrament, Bishop Anderson addressed the candidates, as he did also in St. Patrick's church, saying:

"This is a very important event in your lives. The great grace of confirmation is given to you this day to strengthen you and fit you for your share of the work of Christ."

"With this grace you are receiving the Holy Oil, Christ and the seven gifts of the Holy Ghost, which will enlighten your minds and strengthen your wills."

"You today are receiving in a most extraordinary manner the help of the Holy Ghost, just as the Apostles received it on the great feast of Pentecost. You, too, have a special work to do, and that is to save your souls. You are soldiers of Christ; have a special work to do. You have special duties to render to your God and Redeemer."

"You must be loyal to Christ, you must be courageous, and true in your service to Him. Our Lord said, 'If you love me, keep my commandments. If you love God, keep His commandments, and love one another.'"

"You have God's own words, He who will confess me before all men, I will confess him before my Father, but he who will deny me before men, I will deny him before my Father."

"You also have God's words, He who will be with you until the consummation of time."

"Be loyal to Christ and be ready to die on the cross for His sake, if necessary."

At the conclusion of the bishop's address, the candidates marched in single file to the altar rail where the bishop, assisted by the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., administered the sacrament. Mrs. Margaret Kenefick was the sponsor for the girls and Patrick J. Kiwin served in a similar capacity for the boys.

The exercises were brought to a close with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at which Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I., was the officiating clergyman.

At the ceremonies in St. Patrick's church at 11 o'clock the bishop was assisted by Rev. John J. McElarry, pastor, Rev. James A. Supple, O.M.I., and Rev. Joseph Curran. The sacrosanct were Fire Chief and Mrs. Edward P. Saunders.

Rev. Thomas J. McDonough officiated at benediction, while the choir, under the direction of Michael Johnson, rendered appropriate music.

Baldwin Accepts Premiership

cial opposition in the house of commons has made a prime minister in the house of lords almost an impossibility.

The public was not prepared for such a sudden climax and there were no crowds in Downing street.

It is generally understood that the king, through his secretary, Lord Stamfordham, consulted Lord Curzon before appointing Mr. Baldwin premier. It is believed that Lord Curzon was asked if he was willing to abandon his own claims to the post and serve under Baldwin. He is understood to have agreed to continue as foreign secretary in the new cabinet.

Bonar Law Had Good Night

LONDON, May 22.—(By the Associated Press).—Mr. Bonar Law had a very good night. His condition is unchanged. No further bulletins will be issued at present.

This statement was issued after the former prime minister's physician had visited him today.

Would Continue in Commons

LONDON, May 22. Andrew Bonar Law has written a letter to the Glasgow Tribune in which he says he desires to continue as a member of the house of commons.

He presumes there is no objection to his remaining as the member for Glasgow central division for the present, although he adds that it is very unlikely he will be able to attend this session of parliament.

SACO-LOWELL AND KITSON SHOP MOLDERS OUT ON STRIKE

Strikers Claim Company Refused to Recognize Union—Also Have Hour and Wage Grievance—Meeting in Trades and Labor Hall Addressed By Organizer for the International Molders' Union

Claiming that the company refused to recognize the union and to stabilize the working hours and wages in conformity with union regulations, about 150 molders employed at the Saco-Loewell and Kitson foundries went out on strike this morning. Later in the forenoon the strikers held a meeting in Trades & Labor hall and were addressed by International Organizer A. J. Pendergast of the International Molders' Union of North America.

It was stated at strike headquarters this noon that the other foundries of the city are not affected by the strike, for all of them acquiesced to the demands of the organization last week. One of the officials of the union stated that at the Saco-Loewell and Kitson foundries the hours of work and wages were considerably "what we want," he said, "is that the wages of the men be stabilized and a day's work to consist of eight hours."

The strike vote was taken at a meeting of the union held last evening in Trades & Labor hall and this morning the men reported as usual but in-

ACCEPTANCE OF ACT WOULD HELP WATER DEPARTMENT

City May Vote to Accept Legislative Act Allowing Water Department to Make Unpaid Water Bills a Lien on Real Estate—Council Meeting This Evening—City Hall News

If the city of Lowell will vote to accept and make operative here the legislative act which will allow the water works to make charges for water which remain unpaid for one year a lien upon real estate, the same as unpaid taxes, annual receipts will be appreciably increased and the percentage of delinquents will be reduced to the lowest possible minimum.

If the act is accepted in Lowell it will not become retroactive and therefore will have no effect upon the $714,122 worth of 1921 and 1922 unpaid water bills now outstanding, but its future effect will be to have no unpaid bills running over from year to year.

An examination of the books of the water department today showed that water bills for 1921 and 1922 that remain unpaid amount to $714,122, very little of which will be collected, officials of the department believe. With this new act in operation no such deficit would be possible, for if bills remained unpaid after one year the city would have the right to sell the property in question in order to collect the bill.

Rapid and almost continuous transfers of property result in evasion of the payment of water bills and in many such instances the water department officials are unable to locate a responsible person and the bills go by default.

DRIVER LOST CONTROL

Heavy Truck Rips Watering Trough From Base and Destroys Trees

The heavy cast iron watering trough at the intersection of Perry and Rogers streets was torn from its base shortly before 8 o'clock this afternoon when it was struck by a heavy, banana-loaded truck bound from Boston to Concord, N. H., and operated by Orlando J. Giampolo of 26 Chelsea street, Boston.

In attempting to avoid a collision with a truck owned by John Brady and a smaller car about half way down the Rogers street hill, the Boston truck driver lost control of his machine and it plunged over to the sidewalk, knocking down trees as it descended down grade and into the watering trough. Four men riding on the truck jumped to safety just before it knocked the trough for a row of pyramids and sent a huge spout of water 22 feet into the air.

Public Not Prepared for Such a Sudden Climax and There Were no Crowds at Downing Street—Lord Curzon Consulted Before Appointment—Latter Said to Have Agreed to Continue as Foreign Secretary

LONDON, May 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Stanley Baldwin is Great Britain's new prime minister. He accepted the premiership offered him this afternoon by King George.

The solution of the premiership problem suddenly thrust upon the country is regarded as unquestionably a keen disappointment to Lord Curzon, who two days ago was regarded as almost certain to succeed Mr. Bonar Law in the office vacated by that statesman Sunday because of his ill-health. The foreign secretary, however, is pointed to as a victim of circumstances and not as being passed over because of any lack of ability and certainly not from any lack of experience.

HOLDUP MAN AND GIRL HELD

Frank J. Sayes and Dance Hall Girl Driven From House by Tear Gas Bombs

Sayes Opened Fire When Six Officers Surrounded House

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 22.—Two policemen were shot to death and two seriously wounded today, when they attempted to arrest Frank J. Sayes, alias Miller, wanted in connection with a holdup. The officers had trailed Sayes and a woman companion to a house in this city.

After the shooting Sayes and the woman, known to the police as May Miller, a dance hall girl, were driven from the two-story frame dwelling at 18 Manhattan avenue to tear gas bombs and placed under arrest.

Receiving a warrant for Sayes' arrest, six officers surrounded the suspect's home early this morning. Sayes saw them coming, and according to the police, opened fire from a near window.

Detective Sergeant John Black and Patrolman Clarence Wenz were killed outright. Lieut. Harry Otis of West New York and Detective James Walton were wounded. Sayes was wanted for robbing the public service corporation of $9000.

INTER-CITY TRUST HEAD ARRAIGNED TODAY

(Special to The Sun)
EAST CAMBRIDGE, May 22.—S. Lealand Montague of Cambridge, former head of the Inter-City Trust, the affairs of which are undergoing rigid investigation, was arraigned today in the superior court here this morning on four indictments, returned at the February sitting of the grand jury.

The indictments in connection with the Inter-City Trust and a Lowell woman are as follows: 1—Accessory before the fact to larceny. It is alleged that, on August 4, 1922, at Lowell, others stole stocks and bonds valued at more than $100 from Clementine Crossley of Lowell, and that Montague was an accessory before the fact; 2—Larceny, on September 4, 1922, at Lowell, of stocks and bonds valued at more than $100; 3—similar larceny, on August 24 of the same year; 4—Conspiracy to commit larceny. It is alleged that Montague and others conspired to steal stocks and bonds.

Patric Attorney Arthur K. Readling, after Montague had pleaded not guilty to all four charges, told the court that Montague had agreed to help the government in solving the affairs of the Inter-City Trust. The district attorney said that in view of this fact and inasmuch as Montague is held in Suffolk in substantial bonds, he would recommend that he be held only $100 in Middlesex county. The suggestion was accepted.

LOWELL CASES IN THE SUPERIOR CRIMINAL COURT TODAY

Woman Faints When Husband is Fined and Sentenced—Defendant in Liquor Case Found Not Guilty on Suggestion of Assistant District Attorney Pearson

Albert De Angelo, a Lowell man, was before the superior criminal court, Cambridge today charged with keeping and exposing liquor. The case went to trial and the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Sentence of one month in the house of correction and a $100 fine was imposed. As the jail sentence was being read, Mrs. De Angelo, the defendant's wife, sitting among the spectators, sprang to her feet and started for her husband, and, after taking a few steps, fell fainting to the floor. She was removed by court officers to the rest room where she was revived.

Manuel Turbone, also of Lowell, was before the same court on a like charge. At the conclusion of the government's case, Asst. District Attorney Pearson suggested that the court order a verdict of not guilty, as he felt the government had failed to prove the case. The court ordered the verdict as requested and the jury returned it as not guilty.

Frank Kuboski and George Katsaros of Lowell who were defebated in the superior criminal court in Cambridge last Friday when their cases were called, were arrested on capias and were brought before the court yesterday charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale. Both pleaded guilty and Kuboski was sentenced to one month in the house of correction and a fine of $100 was also imposed. The Katsaros case was continued up to June 21 for sentence.

PROTEST FILED WITH STATE BOARD AGAINST WORKING ASH MEN MORE THAN 8 HOURS A DAY

Attorney James J. Bruin, representing the laborers of the city ash collection department, yesterday filed formal protest with the state board of labor and industries against the working of these men more than eight hours a day. Names of the members of the board of public service and superintendent of streets were named in the complaint.

Just a short time ago a similar protest was lodged with the public service board and the superintendent of streets and waste collection was instructed to draw up a new schedule of work in an effort to limit each man's working day to eight hours. Superintendent Harrington's report was to the effect that a considerable amount of new equipment and additional men would be necessary if a rearrangement of routes was to be made and as money for this expansion was not available, no particular changes were put into effect.

Mr. Bruin said today the ash department is working only 32 men and that many of them are required to work until 6 p. m. before their routes are completed.

The state board of labor and industries informed Mr. Bruin when he filed his formal complaint that the inspector for this district would be assigned to make an investigation and report his findings back to the board.

SIZE AND SPEED SOUGHT TO DEVELOP RADIO

Size and speed are the factors being developed in the construction of new stations throughout the world.

As to size, it has been found that various interferences—static and otherwise—have a pronounced effect on the stations. For example, the great station atop the municipal building in New York city, established by the city, has practically been abandoned, because it was not strong enough to overcome the interference projected by the large steel structures surrounding it.

Now another broadcasting station, larger than any ever constructed, will soon try to send its messages and concert from the roof of one of New York's skyscrapers. Yet, its builders may find that even this may not succeed in overcoming the interference of the tall city structures.

From San Francisco comes word that the most powerful radio station in the world is being planned for Oakland, across the bay. It is to be built by the General Electric company and is planned to have power enough to cross the Pacific and the equator with its radio flashes.

Speed already is being attained through the use of various mechanical instruments in connection with transmission and reception of messages. More than a hundred words a minute can be sent, through an instrument in use at Washington, and a speed of six words a minute have been attained for reception.

This speed is slow compared with what experimenters hope to attain.

National socialist convention at New York condemns the Fascist and urges distinct branches for women workers.

THROW OFF GRIP SYMPTOMS NOW

Do Not Let the Lingering After Effects Spoil the Summer or You

If you had the grip last winter and have not fully regained your strength and energy, take advantage of the spring season and aid nature with a proper tonic to rid your system of the poisons left by the disease. Unless you do, the debility will persist and make you miserable all summer.

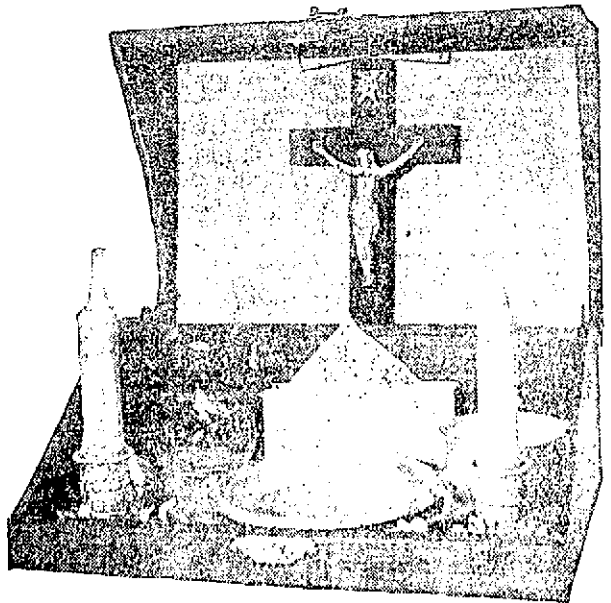

People who are still suffering from the effects of the grip or influenza will be interested in the experience of Mrs. William Smyth, of No. 153 Oxford St., Portland, Me.

"I had an attack of influenza," said Mrs. Smyth recently, "and it left me weak and run down. I tried many medicines but nothing seemed to give more than temporary help. I was tired all the time, even after a night's sleep. My heart was affected so that the slightest effort caused it to beat rapidly and this worried me a great deal, for I was almost convinced that I had some kind of heart trouble. My appetite was poor and my stomach was upset. I didn't have any energy or ambition and by nerves were unstrung."

"My father had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit and he was a firm believer in the remedy, so I decided to try them. One week after I began taking the pills I was convinced that they were helping me so I kept on with the treatment. The violent, irregular beating of my heart no longer bothered me for now it seems to be quite normal again. I eat and sleep well and have gained strength and ambition. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those who suffer from general debility."

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's today or write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing 60 cents and a box will be sent you, postpaid. A little booklet, "Building Up to Blood," which explains the treatment, will be sent free on request.—Adv.

PROGRESS IN RADIO

Important in Public Education

Sales Tax—Distance

It may not be long before radio will become as important a part of public education as the teacher.

In fact, says one famous educator, radio can be seen to take the place of many teachers, especially in rural communities, where they are not as fully trained as others in larger communities.

This prediction follows experiments recently undertaken in New York, where a class was taught by radio. The report of this test, William L. Eitinger, superintendent of schools of New York city, says radio has shown itself on a par of opening a new field in education, although it could not possibly do away with the services of the classroom teacher.

What Eitinger especially referred to was group education by radio. For example, directors of special branches, special teachers, supervisors and occasional lecturers could give their instructions from headquarters to be received at every school assembly in the locality, at the same time.

Referring to the conditions in New York, Eitinger says:

"Famous men frequently visit the city, and they are sometimes willing to address school assemblies. But only one or two schools are fortunate enough to hear them. Radio communication would make it possible for all the school assemblies in the city to hear such a speaker if he were stationed at school headquarters. When one considers that schools all over the country may listen in at the same time, the possibilities for hearing great speakers seem to be almost unlimited."

Broadcasting stations could start this, by transmitting educational lectures for schools, during school hours.

Radio fans might think they're one of the few classes excluded from taxation in these United States. But let them not celebrate too soon.

For the suggestion comes from a western source, that a special sales tax be imposed for radio receiving and transmitting sets—and parts—to defray expenses for radio inspectors and provide for the time when broadcasting will be on a payment basis.

Of course, that will settle on the ultimate consumer, as in all other cases. The fan who enjoys the radio broadcasting program will pay for his receiving set, and a tax to assure continuance of his entertainment.

England requires a license fee from the radio broadcasters, this fee being obtained through rentals to the individual listeners. This is another way of assuring good broadcasting programs, but the sales tax is suggested in this country as the more practical and simpler of the two.

The torrid zone, with its high-strung atmospheric temperament, holds less and less terror for the radio man. It is being gradually calmed down to a point where messages can be sent through with quite a degree of clarity.

Of course, the heat of the equator, especially during the daytime, affords quite an embarrassment to the transmission of radio messages. But radio engineers have found a way out.

They transmit in the comparative cool of night and at high wavelengths. Recently a radio message was successfully sent across the equator from the Netherlands to the Dutch East Indies, 7,000 miles away. A wavelength of 5,400 meters was used and the tests were made after sunset.

Ever since the star, Holland, has tried to link up her colonies with the mainland by radio. Four years of experimentation have finally brought about the radio link established between Kootwyk, Holland, and Banda, Java.

The effect of daytime on radio transmission across the equator may be surmised from the fact that the high wavelength of 16,800 meters is required to cross the equator. At night, however, transmission was effected on a wavelength of 5,400 meters. Even then, it has been found that the Hava station can transmit more easily than it can receive.

Margaret Anglin at Berkeley, Calif., says artists are not bricklayers, and that she vigorously opposes labor union for the professional stage.

Ironize More Foods

One of the body's daily needs is food-iron for the blood.

Raisins furnish iron—the natural, organic iron which is most easily assimilated by the system.

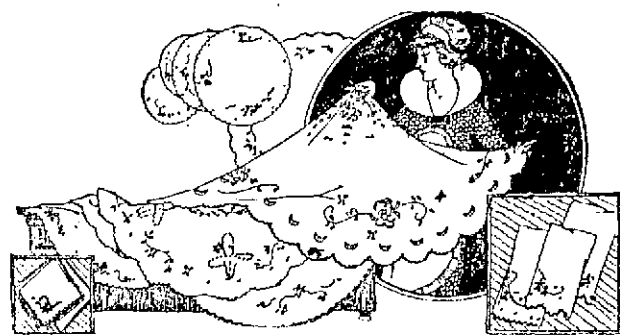

Add raisins, therefore, to cakes, cookies, breakfast foods, bread, etc., and you add this benefit as well as luscious flavor.

More Shoe Shops to Close

Ten have opened their doors today for any employees who wish to work. The largest factories of the George E. Keith Co., and W. L. Douglas Shoe Co., were opened this morning, but advisers from the plants showed that few employees reported in the departments where unions have struck.

Officers and committees of the newly formed Brockton District Shoe Workers' organization extended their efforts to towns of the Old Colony district today in an effort to have shoe workers in other towns go out in sympathy with the Brockton strikers and to succeed from the Best & Shaw Workers' Union.

President Joseph E. Lacouture and Secretary Dennis E. McCarthy of the organization, announced that Whitman, with its big Commercial Shoe and Leather Co. and Regal Shoe Co. factories, will be visited some time today. Representatives of the new union organization visited Middlebury yesterday afternoon in an attempt to have workers go out there.

They met with little success, according to Middlebury union officials and manufacturers. They were refused admittance to two factories. It was learned.

What other towns will be subject to the influence of the new union has not been known by officers of the organization today but it is certain they claim that an attempt will be made to get all workers in the district out in sympathy with the Brockton strikers.

Workers Join in Strike
Twenty-one lasters employed at the Commonwealth Shoe and Leather Co. of Whitman, left their benches and machines this morning and went out in sympathy with the Brockton strikers. The entire group are residents of Brockton. It is claimed at the factory.

lasters or any other employees of the Regal Co. have left their jobs. It is claimed at the factory.

Bridgewater shoe workers held a big mass meeting this morning, and employees of the packing, stitching and lasting rooms of the L. Q. White Shoe Co., joined with those who went out yesterday afternoon. The number going out was estimated at 100.

President Joseph Lacouture of the Brockton district shoe workers' addressed the Bridgewater workers. Employees of the Bridgewater Workers' Co-operative Co., and the Banker Field Co. of Bridgewater, joined the L. Q. White Co. strikers, other strikers claim. Officials of both firms deny their employees are on strike. No employees have struck at Crocker & Morse, Inc., another Bridgewater factory.

More Join in Strike
Seven out of 74 lasters at the Regal Shoe Co. factory at Whitman, walked out shortly before noon, in sympathy with the Brockton strikers.

At the Metropolitan Shoe Co., of Whitman, nine lasters, the entire lasting room group, left their jobs soon after the Regal employees quit.

Following a meeting of the mixed union strikers this morning a committee of three strikers made the following statement:
"There were over 500 present at the meeting Monday night, when the strike vote was taken. The strikers wish to refute the statement of union officials that 400 left the meeting before the strike vote was taken. Over 500 were present at our meeting this morning."

Another meeting of the union is called for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The executive board of the vamps' union, employees of the stitching room, announce a mass meeting for tonight at 7:30.

CANNOT ATTEND HIGH SCHOOL FIELD DAY

Headmaster Henry H. Harris of the high school has received word from Carl L. Schrader, state supervisor of physical education, that he will be unable to be a guest of the Lowell school department at the high school field day on Friday of this week, but hopes that Miss French of his department will come to the city to represent the state. Mr. Schrader was an interested spectator at last year's field day and had only commendable words for the program presented.

The high school band, now polishing up for field day, has 16 new instruments to work with and it is hoped the organization will be an important feature of the event.

AMERICAN UNITARIAN JUDGE PARKER UMPIRE OF COMMISSION

BOSTON, May 22.—The American Unitarian association held its 98th annual meeting today in connection with the events of Unitarian anniversary week, and delegates listened to a series of short addresses on the activities of various departments of the organization in the last year.

"No year in the history of the association has closed with so many churches in vigorous condition and with such happy and effective co-operation between ministers and churches," Rev. Minot Simons, D.D., secretary of the church extension department said in his report.

"More than a score of churches have been helped to renewed life and increased vitality by the contributions made to the Unitarian campaign, Inc., and allotted to the extension department."

Reporting that barely one-third of one per cent of the $2,400,000 subscribed by 25,000 Unitarians three years ago, is considered uncollectible, Oliver M. Fisher, assistant treasurer of the Unitarian campaign, Inc., declared that for the immediate future, Unitarians are prepared to give $1,000,000 a year for extension of the work of the 15 denominational agencies which are sharing in the subscriptions obtained in the 1920 canvass.

No "closed" want of a minister, sign need have on any Unitarian church door, according to the report made by Rev. Fred H. Lewis of North Easton, for the committee for recruiting the ministry. Not only are there clergymen to fill every vacant pastorate, he said, but the students now in college and theological schools, promise a sufficient supply for the near future.

Co-operation with all agencies, both within and without the denomination aiming at the moral and spiritual development of the young, has characterized the policy of the department of religious education, according to the report by Dr. William I. Lawrence, its secretary.

TO ABOLISH CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 22.—Speakers who addressed representatives of civil organizations meeting under the auspices of the League of Women Voters here last night, said Alabama would have a worse reputation than Florida, if the concealed truth about the methods of the convict lease system were known. They pleaded for the abolition of the convict lease system.

W. C. Davis of Jasper, former member of the legislature; John C. Arnold, also former legislator; Judge William B. Fort of the Jefferson county circuit court, and Irwin Engle of the Birmingham bar, were the speakers.

Mr. Davis cited the opinion of the Banner mine some years ago, when scores of convicts there against their will, were killed.

"We are training Alabama girls in a state college at Montevallo within sight of another institution where free labor refuses to work," he said. "About the unknown graves in the woods back of the college, where the mine victims are buried, if you want to know the death toll of mine convicts. Last year there were nearly twice as many accidental deaths of convicts in the mines as were claimed in the whole state convict system by pneumonia and tuberculosis combined."

DISCUSS APPLICATION FOR BRANCH BANK

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The federal reserve board's advisory council apparently had reached no conclusion today, at its regular quarterly meeting, as to whether a proper precedent would be established in permitting the placing of a federal reserve bank agency in Cuba, and was continuing discussion of the matter.

The applications of the Boston and Atlanta Reserve banks to establish agencies in Havana, has raised the question which occupied the attention of the council at the first day of its meeting, yesterday, even to the exclusion of subjects of credit and general economic conditions.

TO BURN POPPIES MADE IN GERMANY

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 22.—"Poppies made in Germany are not fit to honor our boys who perished on Plandera fields," said the women of the American Legion Auxiliary today. They voted last night to burn 10,000 cloth poppies in a public bonfire on the Municipal Island Friday night. The poppies had been purchased to sell on "Poppy Day" which falls on next Saturday. Later it was discovered they were German-made.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Resumption of proceedings before the mixed claims commission on the war claims of the United States government and American citizens against Germany today awaited the appointment of an American commissioner to succeed Judge Edwin H. Parker, of Texas, who has been appointed umpire of the commission.

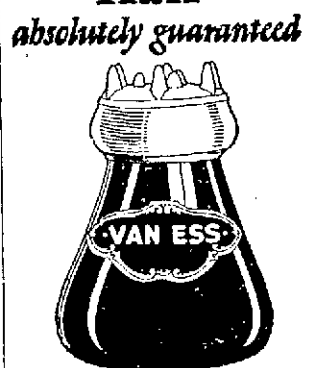

Judge Parker's appointment as umpire was made yesterday immediately after former Justice Day of the supreme court had sent in his resignation from that office to President Harding, stating that he did so because he believed a younger and stronger man should assume the duties. There had been no intimation today as to the president's probable choice for American commissioner to succeed Judge Parker, whose appointment as umpire, it was announced at the state department, the German government had been glad to approve.

BUILDINGS AT DEVENS STAY

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Major-General Edward L. Logan of Boston, commander of the Massachusetts National Guard and president of the National Guard association of the United States, yesterday obtained from the war department an agreement that the wooden buildings at Camp Devens shall be retained until after this summer, at least.

General Logan previously had protested a plan to tear down these buildings and replace them with canvas. A plan which General Logan declared would be uneconomical in view of the thousands of New Englanders who will be at the summer training camps at Devens.

BOY IS CHARGED WITH FORGERY

The case of Joseph Eugene Antaya, 15, a neat appearing and intelligent looking youngster, charged with forgery, was heard in the clerk's office at district court building this morning. His case was continued until May 26.

Antaya was arrested while playing pool in a room on Suffolk street last night by Officers Alfred J. Cooney and Francis E. Moore. Officer Cooney in relating the story, stated that the youngster had secured a blank Lowell Trust company check, and had forged the name of George Marchand, a merchant of Moody st., to the paper, for an amount of $14.27. According to the testimony of the youth, he then went to the general clothing store of Bessie Cantor at 584 Merrimack street and purchased a pair of pants, neck ties and other miscellaneous clothing, to the amount of $8, giving the check as payment, and accepting the balance. The check was endorsed by Louis Cantor. It was returned by the bank, and the police were notified. Bond for appearance in the juvenile court Friday was placed at $300.

According to Officer Cooney, the lad

was convicted for the larceny of three bicycles recently and was placed on probation. At the time of his arrest by Officers Cooney and Moore, Antaya had on his person a purse containing keys and two rings, the value of which have not been ascertained. The lad admitted to the officers, stated Officer Cooney, that he had "lifted" the purse which had contained money, in a lodging house, at which he was stopping. The need of money was the excuse offered by the boy for the forgery, according to the officers who took part in the arrest.

Fundamentalists and Liberals

to Bring Fight to Floor of Convention

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 22.—Fundamentalists and Liberals, whose differences regarding interpretation of the Bible, have resulted in much dissension and bitter discussion at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America, are expected to bring their fight to the convention floor today. Another clash is expected when the committee on education makes its report. Mr. Bryan is expected to demand that the teachings of Darwinism in the denomination's schools be prohibited, while educational leaders are expected to make a fight against any attempt to interfere with the study of science.

Rheuma—The One Safe and Quick-Acting Remedy for Rheumatism, Gout and Sciatica. Money Back if it Doesn't Satisfy.

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism, rid themselves of the torturing pain, restored the swollen joints, thrown away canes and crutches, and from helpless beings became able to work and be at ease to themselves and their families.

They took Rheuma, the modern enemy of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, arthritis, gout and chronic neuritis. Don't be skeptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous uric acid is leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day or two and know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

Don't think because Rheuma is not expensive that it won't bring you back to health. There is no guess work about it. That's why Green's drug store and good druggists everywhere sell it with guarantee of money back if it does not give quick and blessed relief almost at once.—Adv.

DON'T GET FRESH WITH

RICARDO NELSON

Ricardo Nelson, 21-year-old Swedish youth, hailed as the world's strongest man, showed Lowell people last night how easy and simple it is to tear in half a 1600-page telephone directory, break a 28-strand hemp rope tested to withstand 4000 pounds, twist a steel horse shoe into a corkscrew and wind a steel bar into a perfect spiral. Nelson did these and other stunts on the stage of Colonial hall before an audience that was quick to realize the beautifully co-ordinated strength of the man from across the sea.

Much of Nelson's strength is housed within his powerful mouth and he uses his teeth in much the same manner as the ordinary man would wield a pair of pliers. If one is looking for exclamation don't "mangle" with Ricardo, his strong enough to break even your promises and then some. The splendid exhibition was followed by dancing, with a silver cup being presented to the winners of a prize waltz.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Make THE Backyard Pay

BY W. R. BEATTIE

Extension Horticulturist, United States Department of Agriculture

Wild blackberries and dewberries grow over a wide range of territory. Among them are found some excellent native varieties, but the cultivated sorts that have been developed are far superior.

Both blackberries and dewberries are adapted for growing in home gardens as they follow raspberries and strawberries and provide a continuous supply of fresh fruit for the table.

About 15 hills of each or a combined row 50 feet in length will yield about enough berries for the ordinary family.

Blackberries are started by planting the suckers or young plants that come up from the extended roots of the old plants, or pieces of roots from the old plants may simply be buried at a depth of two or three inches where the hills are wanted. The planting of suckers is best for the home garden.

The canes formed one year bear the fruit the following season and then should be removed. The strong growing canes should be pinched back during the summer so that they form branches and do not become too high.

Blackberries that grow wild in patches support one another, but in the garden, where the hills are spaced about three or four feet apart, the young and tender canes are liable to be broken off at the base by the wind unless they are tied to supports.

A good way to support the blackberry plants is to drive a long stake about four feet high in the row beside each hill, then stretch about three strands of galvanized wire on the stakes and tie the canes to the wires.

three feet apart in the row and allow the canes to lie on the ground the first season. Early the following spring drive a row of stakes and stretch wires upon them, forming a trellis to which the canes may be tied.

Dewberries are pruned very much the same as other berries by cutting out the old canes after fruiting and clipping back the new growth. If the canes grow longer than five or six feet, if more than five or six canes are formed in each hill thin out the weaker ones. Dewberries give better results in the south than blackberries.

In cold regions, dewberry canes "winter-kill" unless they are protected. One method of protecting the plants is to loosen the wires from the stakes and lay the wires and canes upon the ground, then cover them with earth or with straw or both. In the early spring the covering is carefully removed and the wires fastened back in place without taking the canes off them.

Logan blackberries are adapted to growing on the Pacific coast but do not thrive in the south or east. The loganberry is of the trailing type and resembles the dewberry in its habits of growth. It is a very strong grower, sometimes producing canes 20 feet long. The canes should be grown on the ground the first season, then tied up like dewberries.

PULLS MAN FROM RIVER

Autoist Saves Man From Drowning, But Kills Him Half Hour Later

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 22.—Saved from drowning in a creek by a passing motorist, and half an hour later struck and severely injured by the same motorist on Lake road, south of Clarkson Corners, Frank Akey, 65, of Brockport, died at the County hospital yesterday.

Responding to calls for help, Herbert Chapman, fruit grower of Clarkson, stopped his car at a creek near Brockport and found Akey struggling in the water.

Wading in Chapman succeeded in pulling the man to shore. Akey is said to have been drinking.

Chapman went into Brockport with his wife to make a call. On the way back he took the same highway, the Lake road.

About three-quarters of a mile beyond the scene of his deed, Chapman says Akey suddenly staggered from the side of the road in front of the car. He was knocked down and received a fractured skull.

BERNE, Switzerland, May 22.—Terming soviet Russia's note on the Vorovsky assassination "audacious and arrogant," the Swiss reply says that it would have remained unanswered but for the possibility that silence on Switzerland's part might be misconstrued. The reply declares Switzerland finds "nothing for which to reproach herself."

Acceptance of Act Would Help Water Department

back to the council unapproved by Mayor John J. Donovan. The meeting of the council tonight, Councilor Frederick A. Sadler, sponsor of the original order, will attempt to have the order passed over the majority veto and will present the facts and figures to substantiate the claim that certain sections of the city are without adequate police protection during the night time, due to open routes and "doubling," and because of a shortage of regular men. It was impossible today to get much of a line on how the council will vote on the question, each apparently being satisfied to wait until final arguments are heard before making a decision.

The mayor has taken no action on the order for paving a portion of Lawrence street and for sanitary improvements at the Moody and Oakland schools and therefore, it is not expected these will be before the council this evening.

Mayor's Engagements
Mayor John J. Donovan is attempting to solve the perplexing problem of filling a multitude of engagements on Memorial day, many of which come in the afternoon after the parade. Already the mayor has received invitations to attend the following events in addition to reviewing the parade: Water service at East Merrimack street bridge, 9:30 a. m.; Memorial mass, South common, 10 a. m.; supper, Post 42, G.A.R., Memorial hall, 5 p. m.; G.A.R. banquet immediately after parade, 292 Merrimack street; Spanish War Veterans, dinner, 6:30 p. m., and

Disabled War veterans, Liberty hall, 8 p. m.

Asks for Conference

The school committee has asked for a conference with the special committee of the city council on Thursday evening of this week to discuss conditions at the Edison school, and to formulate some definite plans for temporary repairs that at least, will make the building safe for occupancy.

The meeting will be held at city hall at 7:30 p. m. Members of the special council committee are Councilors Hennessey, Cosgrove, Sadler, Chadwick and Christen.

City Auditor Martin

City Auditor Daniel B. Martin will go to Boston on Thursday to attend the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Municipal Auditors and Comptrollers' association to be held at the Boston City club at 1 p. m. Election of officers for the current year will feature the business session. Present officers include Theodore N. Wadell, state director of accounts, president; Daniel W. Kenney, city auditor of Holyoke, vice president; and Henry O. Fairbanks, city auditor of Quincy, secretary-treasurer.

Pipe Loss Payments

This city today received insurance payments covering the fire loss at the Mann school, amounting in total to $11,950.70, of which $10,454 is on the building and $1,626.70 on the furnishings. The actual adjustment of the high school annex fire is now completed and money covering this loss is expected within a few days.

NO JURISDICTION IN LIBEL ACTION

NEW YORK, May 22.—General Sessions Judge Crane, sitting as a committing magistrate in the libel action brought by Police Commissioner Enright against Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier and Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, today sustained Assemblyman Cuvillier's objection that the court had no jurisdiction and that to jump from the automobile carrying the party but the guards acted quickly and held him in his place.

BIG SHIPMENT OF FRENCH POPPIES

Adjutant William Kirk of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has received a shipment of 25,000 poppies, made by French war orphans which will be used in the annual Poppy day drive of the organization, to be held Saturday. The proceeds from the sale of the flowers will be used to help needy families of veterans who died in or out of the service. "There are many needy families in Lowell who need a lift," states the adjutant, and if the people of Lowell contribute liberally the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be able to tide them over until help is received from the government.

K. OF C. DRAMATIC CO. SCORED GREAT SUCCESS IN "THE WITCHING HOUR" BY AUGUSTUS THOMAS

WILLIAM F. THORNTON

EDWARD W. GALLAGHER

Opera House Crowded by Delighted Audience—Amateur Players Gave Splendid Presentation of This Famous Play Under Direction of Thomas J. Beane

The famous play by Augustus Thomas, "The Witching Hour," in four acts, marking the initial step in the revival of dramatics in Lowell Council, No. 72, Knights of Columbus, met with a notable presentation by the K. of C. players in the Opera House last night, and received a cordial and enthusiastic reception from an audience that taxed the theatre to capacity.

Billed as an amateur production, last night's presentation would do justice to the most experienced professionals, each of the participants being disinterestedly well versed in the role assigned for portrayal, showing the result of long and earnest preparation. Long before the curtain rose for the first act, the house was filled with persons interested in the presentation of the great play by the K. of C. dramatic company.

The plot of "The Witching Hour," founded upon the lives of interest, in the part of the ambitious architect, Clay Whipple, who accidentally murders a man through an hereditary aversion for a cat's eye scarf pin. The part is played in such a charm, enchantment and the like; and has had its professors and practitioners of varying degrees of knowledge and proficiency from scientists to faith.

And thus it was last night. The cat's eye scarf pin thrust in his face incited the architect to commit a crime. The murder of the scarf pin owner is not reported; the audience saw the occurrence and knew the individual, and it knew him enough to be interested in him. The audience is also interested in the gambler, Brookfield, soft spoken, reticent, and awfully determined and inclined to offer continuing hospitality to the sporting fraternity of old Kentucky. His discovery of his amazing telepathic powers, by which he is enabled to read the playing cards and his demonstration of the gift make him stronger mentally and morally, and more firmly entrench him in the hearts of his auditors.

The story opens in the library and card room of Jack Brookfield, Louisville, Ky., a professional gambler, admirably portrayed by William F. Thornton. In the difficult role, Mr. Thornton was given ample opportunity to display the many qualities which have characterized him as one of Lowell's leading thespians. As Jack Brookfield, Mr. Thornton last night was conspicuous in practically every scene, his occult powers having an evident amazing effect on his associates.

While the trial of Whipple was in progress in court, Brookfield, though absent, concentrated his mind upon one juror in order to cause a disagreement through his occult power and the audience was left to conjecture to what extent this aided in the acquittal so eagerly sought by Justice Prentice, that he became a witness in the case.

Playing opposite Mr. Thornton in the feature female role was Miss Hilda Noonan, whose previous appearances in local theatricals, as well remembered. Miss Noonan, as the mother of Clay Whipple, received favorable commendation and much applause for the manner in which she interpreted the exacting role.

Perhaps the most difficult character part of the show fell to the lot of Edward W. Gallagher, who, as "Junmanus as to make the audience like the young man although he is seen to actually commit the murder through the fear of the scarfpin hoodoo. The interest is maintained by the profound trust of the architect's sweetheart and that of his mother, even though it causes them a great amount of suffering. Throughout the play the civil law is represented, to sustain interest, in the part of the prosecuting district attorney, who is also a rival for the man's sweetheart.

The author of the play works upon the theory that in all ages there have been an apprehension and evidence of some force by which one mind acted upon another without communication by the known physical senses. This force, vaguely felt and undefined, has been variously designated as magic, imagination, mesmerism, witchcraft, clairvoyance, sorcery, voodooism, the "Prentice" of the United States supreme court was called upon to carry the part of a venerable old Kentuckian, a former admirer of Clay Whipple's grandmother. His portrayal of the difficult role was very clever, his enunciation was clear and his delivery dignified and emphatic. Worthy of especial recognition was his emotional acting in the second act when his sense of duty as justice deterred him from volunteering to save the grandson of his former sweetheart. This was one of the most tense and touching situations in the entire play. The feeling that the spirit of Margaret Price was present and dictated a decision of the supreme court to save her grandson was one of the striking episodes of the mysticism that pervaded the entire plot.

Mary Casey, in the juvenile female role of "Viola," gained additional prestige as an amateur theatrical star, her natural talent along these lines fitting her admirably for the sweetest of the young architect.

As the assistant district attorney, Charles J. Landers filled the part to perfection. Being a villainous role the characterization required expert acting, but Mr. Landers proved equal to the occasion and won much admiration for his talent in this respect.

Timothy J. Finnegan, in the role of the architect-lover, and Alice Dacey Delmore as Mrs. Alice Campbell completed the principals and both read their lines with ease and evident satisfaction. Although of a comparatively minor nature, the other characters in the cast are deserving of praise.

All contributed to the success of the play in no small manner and made "The Witching Hour" exceedingly popular with the large audience. It should be repeated in the near future.

The full cast of characters was as follows:

Harvey Daniel P. Brennan
Mrs. Alice Campbell Alice Dacey Delmore
Mrs. Helen Whipple Hilda Noonan
Viola Mary Casey
Clay Whipple Timothy J. Finnegan
Frank Hardmuth Charles J. Landers
Justice Prentice Edw. W. Gallagher
Justice Henderson Thomas F. Kelley
Colonel Payley John T. Burns
Mr. Emmett James J. Molloy
To Thomas J. Beane, who directed the show, Charles D. Smith, stage manager, and William L. Howard, assistant stage manager, goes much of the credit for the manner in which the performance was presented and the settings produced, and to the following, a word of appreciation is extended by the sponsors of the successful event: Gowns, hair dressing and Rubenstein costumes, furnished by the Bromley-Shepard Co., Inc., for 18 years' makers of exclusive clothes for women; Miss Lillian Chalifoux, also of this company, had charge of the makeup in which she is an artist; hats from Rose Jordan Hartford; furniture from A. E. O'Hair & Co.; paintings from Wood-Abbott Co.; lighting fixtures from Bartley & Kelleher.

Mr. Daniel S. O'Brien as chairman of the committee was one of the most active workers for the success of the event.

GOV. COX ADDS TO LINER MARVALE SINKS, 436 ABOARD SAVED

BOSTON, May 22.—Appropriations amounting to $114,000 in addition to the sums provided in the original state budget, and made necessary by new legislation enacted or pending at this session, are provided for in a supplementary budget submitted to the legislature by Governor Cox yesterday.

In his budget message the governor points out that a tax of $12,000,000, the same as that of 1922, will be required to meet the excess of expenditures over the ordinary revenue of the state for this year.

In view of the fact that the contract for state printing will expire July 1, the state committee on administration and finance will be authorized to make a new contract, subject to the approval of the governor and council. The expenditures for state printing and binding are now approximately $800,000 a year.

The Marvale sank in seven fathoms while racing for a sandy beach near Cape Pine after striking the rock.

The captain was not able to carry out his plan of running the ship ashore. The Marvale, a vessel of 121 tons, was formerly the Alina liner Corsican. She was used during the war as a transport for Canadian troops.

HELD DANCING PARTY
The Spanish club of the high school, holding a dancing party in Cohorn hall of the school yesterday afternoon beginning at 2:30 and continuing to 5 o'clock. The high school orchestra furnished music for dancing and the floor was filled during the whole of the affair.

Mr. Edward Cornell, head of the Spanish department, was in charge of the affair and he was assisted by Miss Gladys Davis and Miss Frances Masterson of the faculty and the students' committee consisting of Miss Lucia Cabral, chairman; Miss Marian Lannon; Miss Esther Casey; Fred Ryan and the other members of the club.

William H. Quigley charged with being drunk was given a suspended sentence of five months to the house of correction, and placed on probation for one year, by Justice Enright in district court this morning. The justice stated in emphatic terms that another suspended sentence of five months hanging over Quigley at the present time would also be included, if he was brought into court within a year.

Justice Enright told Quigley that his old alibi of a dependent wife and a old alibi had been worked to the limit, as far as the court was concerned. "You have contributed to the support of your wife when you wanted, and what you wanted," asserted the judge. "You have been making life miserable for her and the child by getting drunk over the week-end, and bringing her into court to get you off with a suspended sentence. The next time that you are brought here you will get ten months in the house of correction," declared the justice, as Quigley turned to leave the stand.

TREASURY, N. F., May 22.—The passengers and crew of the Canadian Pacific liner Marvale, which was wrecked after striking Cape Pine, were safely landed last night at the village of St. Shotts.

All of the 436 persons on board were saved. The news was brought here last night from St. Shotts by the captain of the liner.

The Marvale sank in seven fathoms while racing for a sandy beach near Cape Pine after striking the rock.

The captain was not able to carry out his plan of running the ship ashore. The Marvale, a vessel of 121 tons, was formerly the Alina liner Corsican. She was used during the war as a transport for Canadian troops.

The Marvale, according to the captain, is lying about a mile off Cape Pine, with her bow beach ashore.

The passengers and crew were safely housed for the night at the little fishing village of St. Shotts and will be brought to this place, the terminus of a branch line of the Newfoundland railway, today.

In addition to her passenger list the Marvale carried a cargo of flour and grain.

CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

William H. Quigley charged with being drunk was given a suspended sentence of five months to the house of correction, and placed on probation for one year, by Justice Enright in district court this morning. The justice stated in emphatic terms that another suspended sentence of five months hanging over Quigley at the present time would also be included, if he was brought into court within a year.

Justice Enright told Quigley that his old alibi of a dependent wife and a old alibi had been worked to the limit, as far as the court was concerned. "You have contributed to the support of your wife when you wanted, and what you wanted," asserted the judge. "You have been making life miserable for her and the child by getting drunk over the week-end, and bringing her into court to get you off with a suspended sentence. The next time that you are brought here you will get ten months in the house of correction," declared the justice, as Quigley turned to leave the stand.

John Corrigan charged with the bar-any of a pocketbook containing $23 from Jane McDonald, was found guilty by the court, and was given a suspended sentence of four months in the house of correction, by Justice Enright in the district court today, on condition that he make restitution of the $22. Court officers declared that the McDonald woman needed the money badly, and it was on this account that the prisoner was given the suspended sentence. Corriggan on taking the stand denied having taken the pocketbook, but it was brought out by police officers that the empty purse had been found on his person.

Ignacy Hodgkari charged with violation of the motor vehicle law was found guilty, and was fined $25. With the pleading of the fine, Justice Enright declared that the motor vehicle laws must be observed.

Alfred Gandreau charged with non-support had his case continued until May 26.

Charles Nugent charged with violation of the motor vehicle laws on two counts was found not guilty and ordered discharged.

John E. Bulme charged with being drunk was given a suspended sentence of four months in the house of correction, on his plea of guilty.

ANIMAL GROUP WITH SPARKS' CIRCUS

SPARKS CIRCUS COMING TO LOWELL MAY 31

When the Sparks circus exhibits in Lowell, Thursday, May 31, a feature that should especially appeal to youngsters from far and near will be found in operation. Manager Charles Sparks announces a most welcome reduction in the price of children's tickets, and at both performances here all youngsters under 12 will be admitted for 30 cents, including war tax. Instead of the 50 cent price which has prevailed in late years.

BOSTON BIDS FAREWELL TO "LIGHTNIN" TROUPE

BOSTON, May 22.—The departure of the "Lightnin'" company from Boston

yesterday, after their historic seven months' run at the Hollis street theatre, was made the occasion of a noisy farewell celebration by players appearing at other local theatres.

When Percy Pollock, Jessie Pringle, Paul Stanton and other favorites of the "Lightnin'" organization appeared at the South station shortly before noon to entrain for Brockton, they were greeted with shouts and discordant notes of a variety of musical instruments ranging from harmonicas to tin horns. Miss Mitz, the diminutive star of "Milk and Honey" at the Colonial theatre, was the leader and a group of girls from the "Lady Butterflies" company of the Shubert theatre, were prominent in the fun. Crane Wilbur and members of the "The Monster" company were also on hand.

Farewell parties have been the custom for the "Lightnin'" company ever since Mayor Helen and a distinguished group of officials and player folk escorted Frank Bacon and his colleagues to the Pennsylvania station after their three years' run at the Gaiety theatre, New York. This was on the occasion of their departure for Chicago, two years ago this summer. Plans for a similar celebration when they left Chicago were abandoned because of Mr. Bacon's death. Had the beloved creator of Bill Jones remained in the harchildren's entertainment and that circus day is one of the most important events in a child's life, we gave the little ones first consideration when business conditions warranted a price reduction. I have always felt that the price of 50 cents charged for children's tickets by all the important circuses during the past few years has been a hardship to many a poor kiddie. While we are not philanthropists we do not expect to increase our revenue by the change. But we do anticipate greater numbers of children, and crowds of children to my mind are as important to the permanent success of a circus as the performance itself.

Greatly enlarged and even more lavishly equipped than in former years, the Sparks circus is preceded here by most complimentary newspaper reviews from cities in which it has recently exhibited. Seats can be secured circus day at Kenshaw's Music store, same price as at show grounds. This season the Sparks circus will exhibit at the Gorham street circus lot.

ness his send-off in the western metropolis would probably have eclipsed the one that Broadway gave him.

"Lightnin'" will begin a limited tour of the principal New England cities with a three days' engagement in Brockton beginning last night. Three days in New Bedford will follow and next Monday the company will go to Lowell for performances Monday and Tuesday night at the Opera House. The original cast is being held intact for the New England tour, with Percy Pollock, who succeeded Mr. Bacon, continuing in the role of "Lightnin'" Bill Jones.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A comedy playlet in which Jack Norton wins fresh laurels and the appearance of Harry Jolson, brother of Al, of musical comedy fame, features the bill at B. F. Keith's theatre this week. Other acts on the program tend to give balance to the show and keep it on the upgrade.

The Norton comedy is titled "Recuperation," and if laughing keeps one's health in order the act will substitute very well for the family physician. Lucille Haley as "June" really does more for Norton's run down system than the training camp doctor, however, played by Frank Dufrane and in the end the tinkle of wedding chimes may be imagined without much effort. Norton's comedy lines are particularly good and the act rolls along in first rate style.

Speaking of style, Harry Jolson is a stylist of the first rank. He works in black-face, even as his more illustrious brother and admits that while Al ticks the treasury for $5000 per week, he himself draws down only $125 less. He has a little assistance in his act in a measure quite surprising. The star knows how to put over a song and he was repeatedly encored last night by his singing of "Carolina Mammy" was a work of art.

If you like a jolly, rolund person, working in the neighborhood of 220, see George Watts, and also give a look at Hobe Haxley, who plays with him. Not that Miss Hawley is at all similar in size to George, but she does not show up the act by any means. Watts has a number of snappy song numbers, practically all of the conversational brand but new and decidedly of vaudeville type.

Maebel Burke and Norma Lehyland present a song revue of 1928 song hits and in addition to most acceptable features the young women employ motion picture features to excellent advantage.

Whistling, pantomime, comedy pratle and music blend well in the act of Kurt and Edith Kuehn, who are playing in "Dancehall" close the show in whirlwind fashion. The opener presents the Michon brothers, hand balancers and equilibrist.

A Chestnut Outing picture. Topics of the Day and another popular Asop Fable comprise the motion picture features.

RIALTO THEATRE
A vivid story of the great Canadian northwest, in which the tale of the famous organization, the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police are graphically retold, may be seen in the production "I Am the Law," which opened a two day engagement at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon. The story is the feature of a mighty attractive program, in which is also featured a comedy farce entitled "Red Hot Romance," a thrilling chapter of the serial "Around the World in 18 Days," a snappy comedy and the Pathé News. The entire bill furnishes plenty of entertainment and is arranged with the idea of an even balance.

The story in this great picture, "I Am the Law," is laid in the snowy fastnesses of the great northwest, in which two brothers, the Fitzgeralds, members of the famous police organization are depicted in a plot of sacrifice and conviction. One of the brothers assumes the crime of a guilt committed by his brother while the other one, after being cleared of his guilty crime, turns to the here to help his brother and goes out to arrest him for the plot which he himself has committed. One brother holds his mother's feelings be-

Here are the physical reasons why Royal Cords have been delivering the excess value you have heard so much about

The New Sprayed Rubber—the first rubber produced by scientific process from the rubber latex. Uniform in quality, Acid-free, and uncontaminated with smoke residues or foreign matter.

The New Web Cord—for the first time a rubber-webbed cord structure without tie-threads. Impregnated through and through with pure rubber by direct use of the latex itself. Not to be confused with the practice of using rubber solutions.

The New Flat Band Method of Building Tires—a new method ensuring the positive length, angle, tension and strength of each cord. A uniform tire equalized throughout in resiliency and resistance to wear.

WITH the announcement of these three "U. S." discoveries, now being published in detail in the newspapers and magazines—car owners are given the physical explanation for Royal Cord leadership and dominance.

The question of tire value is taken out of the realm of opinion and put on the solid ground of demonstrable fact.

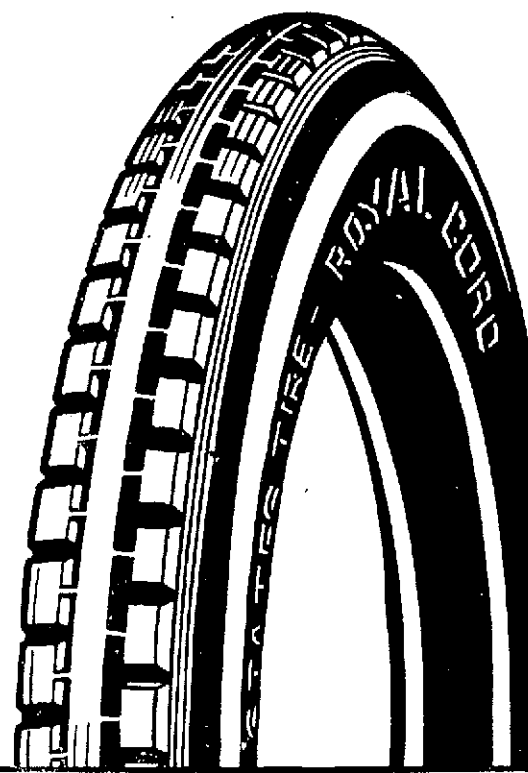

The motorist who has been planning to use Royal Cords in 1923 has now before him a still fuller confirmation for his belief in Royal Cord Tires.

To dealers the significance is this: car-owners are anxious for U. S. Royal Cords, and even now are seeking the dealer who has an adequate Royal Cord stock. Tire users want Royal Cords straight-away—and will go where they can get them.

fore his mind all the time while the other discards her name and throws it to the four winds. In this way the story is a gripping contrast of human nature and it tells, as well as the exploits of the great police organization, the human side of a household held together under a loving mother's wings.

"Red Hot Romance," the other feature of the program, is chockful of rich comedy. A young millionaire is disowned from his father's fortune until he is able to produce a certain amount of money by his own endeavors. He takes up life insurance and goes into virgin territory. Here he runs into everything but money.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
Starting with the matinee this afternoon, Nance O'Neil, America's most famous tragedienne, is appearing in that big Broadway attraction, "The Passion Flower," at the Lowell Opera House. Miss O'Neil is supported by Alfred Hickman, probably as well known on the American stage as Miss O'Neil herself and the Al Luttringer Stock Players who have delighted the theatregoers of this city all season. Mr. Luttringer felt that as this was farewell week of the Al Luttringer's Stock Players he would like to do something to show the patrons of his theatre his appreciation of the way that they have supported his company here this season and in bringing Miss O'Neil to Lowell he feels that he has done just a little something to show them that he is trying his best to please them.

For the first time Miss O'Neil will appear with a stock company and what is more for the first time she will appear in this production at less than $250 prices. Through an arrangement with Mr. Luttringer the prices for this show will be the same as those charged in this theatre all season. It is only necessary to say that in her role Miss O'Neil portrays the stricken Spanish mother so eloquently that it seems as if you were not watching a play but that it was real. The story tells of a great love—so great that it knows no bounds. Seats for this play are now on sale. Societies and clubs wishing to come to the theatre in a body can do so by making arrangements at the box office.

STRAND THEATRE

For the first three days of the week the Strand theatre is featuring "The Christian," a super-production. "The Christian," which achieved a world-wide popularity through its author, Sir Hall Caine. This play ranks among the most notable screen achievements, and filmed under the able direction of Maurice Tourneur. It is one of the most elaborate screen productions ever shown in this country.

"The Christian" unfolds the story of a man who had to choose between his devotion to religion and his love for a woman. This young girl was born and brought up in a little country town in England, and when she grows into womanhood she longs for the city life and finally goes to London, where she becomes an actress, ranking later as London's most beautiful stage woman.

Her school day friend, whose friendship for her has grown into love, enters the ministry and later goes to London, where he struggles between devotion to his religion and his love for the young and beautiful actress. The greater part of the picture was filmed in London and among the scenes presented on the screen are most striking: a battle at Trafalgar square. The picture is one that lifts the mind and broadens the soul and is well worth seeing for while it provides great amusement it also affords a great moral lesson. The cast is made up of seven stars such as Richard Dix, Mae Busch and others.

The other picture, "The Love Letter," is one of Gladys Walton's best comedy-dramas, and provides considerable enjoyment. It deals with a young woman who is employed in an over-crowded factory. Her great pleasure is to place match notes in the pockets of the overalls she turns out. Some of the notes are answered, and among the replies received is one from a village blacksmith, a handsome young man. After losing her job at the factory the girl winds her way to the neighboring village, where she meets the young blacksmith. What follows may be better enjoyed on the screen. The play is interesting throughout and is sure to please every one. In addition to these two clever productions there is also an interesting series of current events as well as "Fun from the Press," an excellent comedy and very enjoyable musical numbers.

Harold Lloyd, one of the greatest comedians of the movie world, in "Safety Last!" one of the greatest laugh-producing pictures ever shown in Lowell, provides the main feature at the Merrimack Square theatre. Lloyd has steadily grown in popularity, here with each picture shown and this last one provides such comedy and realistic thrills that the result is wonderful.

The play opens in Big Bend, a one-horse town, where Lloyd lives and loves a beautiful young girl. He decides to go to New York and make his fortune. Arriving in New York he gets a job as clerk in a dry goods store, and chums with a structural steel worker. Lloyd sends several supposedly expensive gifts back to his girl so she decides that it is time to go to the big city and surprise Harold, whom she thinks is general manager of the store. Lloyd in the meantime has had plenty of real experiences. He and his chum have a startling experience with one of New York's police officers who wears that bell cot them. Another rather interesting scene is a bargain sale at his counter, which shows about six women in a mad rush for bargains. Finally the girl arrives and Lloyd is rather put out to show her what a big job he has. By good management he gets away with his acting as general manager and sends the girl back to her hotel proud of her Harold.

With his pockets empty and a hidden bolt on his head, Harold seems to have a startling experience with one of the overbearing proprietors of the store who run up against a cinder wall and get a crowd to gather around the store. Harold volunteers and arranges, with a few more words, to do a "bum-bum-bum" stand up the 12-story building. With everything all set to start, the late policeman sees in Harold's roommate the one who tricked him and starts after him, so Harold is compelled to start up the building, with the partner promising to meet him one floor above and swap clothes. As a result, Harold is compelled to climb the whole building and in climbing it he has many narrow escapes that caused many in the audience to scream and then to laugh "til they cried when they realized it was on the screen." By the time Lloyd reaches the top of the building the audience is tired out from thrills and from laughing. At the top he is met by the girl and everything is satisfactorily explained. It is without doubt, the best picture that Lloyd has shown in and the photography is marvelous.

"The Old-Fashioned Clapper" is another attraction at the theatre, and an installment of the "Leather Pushers," an international News Weekly and Fun from the Press complete the program.

PLAN INJUNCTION AGAINST SAUNDERS

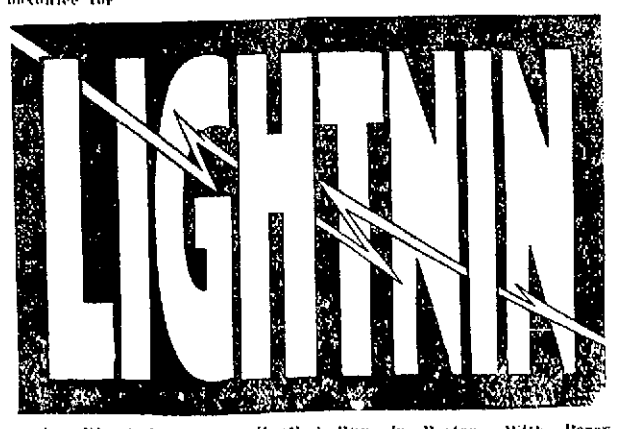

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 22.—Nashville, Tenn. investors in the stock of the Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., threaten to file injunction proceedings here today to restrain Clarence Saunders, president of the corporation from further expenditures of Piggly Wiggly money for alleged "personal advertising."

Information that Piggly Wiggly stockholders at Nashville propose to seek the injunction was made public by Lynn H. Perkins, a New Orleans banker.

That he had spent $154,000 of the corporation's money for personal advertising, was emphatically denied by Mr. Saunders. Much of the advertising expense of the company, he said, was charged to his personal account.

The prisoner was old and frail. He was tottering under the weight of years and troubling because of his over-indulgence in the wine that had been his only solace and that had led to his imprisonment in Lowell. The man heaped the weight of years and misadventure beyond the three score and ten. He was a court defunct in the district of the old money, and the judge before the bar of justice felt Knight's sympathy went out to the feeble old man. "I will not send an old man like you to prison," he said. "Try in your remaining years," he continued, "keep away from the stuff that I have warned you against. If you ever again I will have to find a place for you in a prison home."

Verdict for Plaintiff in Action of Contract Case—
Jury Waived Session

The case of Charles Johnson vs. George Greenberg, an action of contract, which went to trial at the jury civil session of the superior court yesterday, was brought to a close this forenoon and shortly before noon the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $400.00. In this case the plaintiff was endeavoring to recover the sum of $400, which he claims he deposited with the defendant on the purchase of a building. The defendant alleged that the amount mentioned by the plaintiff, the sum of $225.88 was due him for services and that the remainder was being held by him as trustee for the plaintiff by order of a trustee process issued by the district court of Lowell.

The next case to go to trial was that of William E. Conroy, administrator for the estate of Mary Conroy, vs. Beatrice J. Maxwell, an action of tort in the sum of $100.00. The plaintiff alleges that on Sept. 12, 1921, while Mary Conroy was a tenant in the property numbered 124 Bartlett street and owned by the defendant, she fell through the piazza railing and sustained injuries which caused her death. He also alleges that there was a defect in the railing, due to the negligence of the defendant. The defendant denies such and every allegation contained in the plaintiff's declaration and further contends that the accident was due to the negligence of deceased, Kerwin, Kelly and Gillette for the plaintiff and Donahue and Donahue and George F. Tove for the defendant.

Jury Waived Session

At the jury waived session of the superior court the case of Thomas Ristom of Lawrence vs. the city of Lowell, which was started late yesterday afternoon, was resumed this forenoon. In this case the plaintiff has brought suit against the city to recover the sum of $250 for damages to his automobile, due to the defective condition of First street. He claims that on Sept. 14, 1919, while transporting passengers from Lawrence to this city, the rear wheel of his automobile passed over an excavation in First street at a point near the car barn and as a result the rear axle of his car was broken. He is being represented by his attorney, Mr. Donovan of Lawrence, while the city case is being handled by City Solicitor P. J. Reynolds.

Increase in the Cost of Living

BOSTON, May 22.—An increase of 5.8 of one per cent. in the cost of living index for April as compared with March, was reported by the state commission on necessities today. This was accounted for by the increased cost of shelter, fuel and light, and sundries. Rents of dwellings of moderate value were higher and speculation in existing houses was evident, due to the high cost of new construction. Rents of heated apartments and of houses in choice localities showed a tendency to decline.

Before administering the sacrament, Bishop Anderson addressed the candidates, as he did also in St. Patrick's church, saying:

"This is a very important event in your lives. The great grace of confirmation is given to you this day to strengthen you and fit you for your future life of holiness."

"With this grace you are receiving the Holy Spirit, and the seven gifts of the Holy Ghost, which will enlighten your minds and strengthen your wills."

"You today are receiving in a most extraordinary manner the help of the Holy Ghost, just as the Apostles received it on the great feast of Pentecost. You too, have a special work to do, and that is to save your souls. You are soldiers of Christ, and you have special duties to render to your God and Redeemer."

"You must be loyal to Christ, you must be courageous, and true in your service to Him. Our Lord said, 'If you love me, keep my commandments. If you love God, keep his commandments, be loyal in your service.'"

"You have God's own words, He who will confirm me before all men I will give him before my Father."

"You also have God's words, that He would be with you until the consummation of time."

"Be loyal to Christ and be ready to die on the cross for His sake, if necessary."

At the conclusion of the bishop's address, the candidates marched in single file to the altar rail where the bishop, assisted by the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., administered the sacrament. Mrs. Margaret Kennedy was the sponsor for the girls and Patrick J. Kennedy served in a similar capacity for the boys.

TO GIVE ANNUAL CONCERT BUILDING ALTERATIONS

Lowell Normal School Glee Club and Orchestra Concert at Auditorium

In connection with the annual concert of the Glee club and orchestra of the Lowell Normal school, which is to be given at the Memorial Auditorium Friday evening, it is interesting to note that American composers are represented on the program by two numbers, "If I Gave Me a Rose" by Charles Wakefield Cadman and "Dolly" by George Chadwick. This last should be of especial interest to Lowell people, as Mr. Chadwick who is at present president of the New England Conservatory of Music, and is one of the foremost American composers, was born in Lowell in 1854.

This will give our citizens a chance to get a bit of a foretaste of Cadman's music and make them more eager to see and hear this eminent composer next autumn when he is to appear as one of the evening attractions of the Boston Symphony orchestra. The program consists of a Russian Folk-Song by Pletcheyeff which forms the major part of that portion of the Glee club program devoted to Russian music. This was awarded first prize in the international competition offered by the Schumann club of New York. Percy Hector Stephens, conductor, in 1920.

The public was not prepared for such a sudden climax and there were no crowds in Downing street.

It is generally understood that the king, through his secretary, Lord Stamfordham, consulted Lord Curzon before appointing Mr. Baldwin premier. City Council Committee Discusses Alterations to Market Street Building

The matter of extensive alterations at the Market street building housing the district court and police headquarters was thoroughly discussed last night at a joint meeting of the city council committees on finance and public buildings and although every phase of the question was given consideration, it was deemed advisable to defer action until a subsequent meeting to be held early in June.

Of particular interest to the committee was the proposition advanced by the Middlesex county commissioners, whereby the second floor of the building would be renovated at a cost of approximately $55,000, but several councilors felt the quarters on the first floor occupied by the local police are just as badly in need of repair and attention and were inclined to favor a general alteration plan, or none at all.

The committee had before them for examination plans prepared by County Architect Charles R. Greer and submitted by the committee on finance and public buildings. In relation to financing the proposed alterations the commissioners have offered to continue to pay annual rental of $2,550, plus 6 per cent of the cost of such repairs, which would increase the rent to about $5000 a year.

Councilors Frederick A. Sadler and Daniel P. Murphy spoke of the need of alterations on the ground floor of the building and emphatically declared they would not favor the county commission's plan unless some similar amount of work was done in the quarters of the police department.

Councilor Cosgrove expressed a belief that the plans were decidedly a better work than the one which would cost $35,000 and be throwing money away, was his contention. He favored his own proposition to acquire the Washington Tavern site and to erect thereon a modern set of buildings. He thought also the matter might be deferred until fall, but Councilor Stearns suggested consideration until early in June and this was so voted.

In the meantime the city building inspector, Francis A. Connor, will endeavor to prepare plans of repair work needed on the first floor of the building so that the committee may have them for study at the next meeting.
